Sobbing Dies Away
A's and Cardinals Sleep to the Rescue
One Yom Kippur Lesson

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WALL STREET gentlemen dried their eyes, stopped their deep sobs yesterday and put stock prices up from one to five points.

The President's speech, to be delivered at Cleveland today, has been sent out confidentially to newspapers and news agencies, with publication reserved, but no prohibition against showing the speech to tearful stock traders.

The speech, one of sound optimism, based on figures and facts, seems to have comforted the Wall street sobbers.

GEORGE M. REYNOLDS, head of the big Continental Illinois Bank & Trust company of Chicago, ended yesterday his fiftieth year in banking with this sensible and comforting statement:

"Depressions don't kill people. We are recovering from this depression faster than we appreciate. There is nothing fundamentally the trouble with this country. In a few months the volume of business will startle the nation by its size."

YESTERDAY 11 of the biggest savings banks in New York City announced a reduction in the interest rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. Money is piling up in the savings bank. Interest rates are low, money is "cheap." There is nothing the matter with us except timidity.

"THE A's DEFEATED the Cards in the series opener. If you do not know the A's and the Cards you are one among 10,000 in this country.

The score was 5 to 2, the Athletics beating the Cardinals in the first championship baseball game. President Hoover was there with four cabinet members to "lend to each victor a cheer."

GARY COOPER and Lily Damita names better known in the United States than those of Thales and Pythagoras, are snowbound in the Sierra Mountains with 200 other picture actors, directors and helpers.

Ralph Bunos, herdsman, agrees to drive 4,000 sheep over the snow-covered highway and thus make a path for the imprisoned actors.

THAT SOUNDS new and is older than moving pictures by a million years.

The world's roads were marked out originally by wandering animals. Heavy mammoths made paths through thick jungles, savage men followed. Mountain goats, sheep and wild asses marked trails along mountain sides.

THIBETAN WOMEN carry heavy loads on their heads along trails made by the animals thousands of years ago at an altitude that makes effort and even breathing impossible for those not especially trained.

Man's debt to the "lower animals" is great. Tiny creatures built the islands in the Pacific, sheep and horses made transportation and a settled life instead of nomadic life possible.

Man shows his gratitude by killing his friends, the animals, as rapidly as possible. Perhaps that is better for them. Their spirits may come back in a higher form.

OHIO CITY IS HOST TODAY TO PRESIDENT

Cleveland Holds Notable Reception as President Arrives for Address.

THRONG FILLS STREETS

Speech Tonight Awaited with Nationwide Interest; Will Be Broadcast.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2—Six thousand of the nation's bankers and citizens of Cleveland today welcomed President and Mrs. Hoover and President's party with a series of public demonstrations which will be climaxed tonight by an address by the President before the American Bankers' association convention in Cleveland public hall.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were greeted first by a reception committee of W. W. Head, former president of the American Bankers' association, Mayor John D. Marshall, and Joseph R. Nutt, national treasurer of the Republican party. A second reception was given a moment later by a delegation of Cleveland bankers.

Escorted Through Streets

A parade to escort the President and his party to the Hotel Cleveland began at once. It followed Euclid avenue, which was guarded by 500 policemen and firemen. A police car bearing Chief of Police George Matowitz and secret service men led the way, followed by 24 mounted patrolmen.

Next in the line were the famous black and bay horse cavalry troops A and B of the first squadron, Ohio National guard, then the Cleveland grays of the 145th infantry, Ohio National guard, resplendent in their black shakos.

President and Mrs. Hoover, in an open automobile, followed the military. They were smiling as the crowds lining the streets cheered a welcome.

In other automobiles closely followed were the rest of the President's party including Mr. and Mrs. Nutt, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics.

As the parade moved closer to downtown Cleveland, thousands of citizens gathered in the public square to witness the arrival of the distinguished party. Cannon began to boom at the lake front—a 21-gun presidential salute given by Battery B of the 135th field artillery.

Senator McCulloch, Republican of Ohio, boarded the special train at Alliance and accompanied the party to Cleveland. The Alliance High school band in blue and red uniforms played a spirited march as the President posed for pictures.

The train carrying the President's party came from Philadelphia, where the President yesterday attended the first world's series game.

Both the President and Mrs. Hoover were attired in black, Mrs. Hoover also wearing a lavendar corsage. Frequently during the parade, along the flag-draped avenue, the chief executive doffed his silk hat to respond amiably to the crowds at the curblines, while Mrs Hoover bowed graciously.

Upon arrival at the hotel, where

Italian Volcano Erupts without Warning Today.

NAPLES, Italy, Oct. 2—Inhabitants for miles around gathered on neighboring hills today to watch Vesuvius transformed into a mountain of fire and lava by an unheralded eruption.

With its crater shifted 60 feet, the volcano shot rocks and lava 300 feet into the air. There were two fountains of the flaming lava, the molten fluid being cast in flaming streams into the sky.

Wise Cubs

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 2—We cuss the radio for a lot of things that come over it, but when something like the world series comes along and you can be away out here in the irrigated belt, 3,000 miles away, and can hear the crack of the bat, you got to admit it's quite an invention.

Grimes, the St. Louis pitcher, said you only had to watch three of the Athletics, and he was right. Two of the three of 'em knocked home runs, and the other one only got a three-bagger. The Chicago Cubs had the right idea when they lost purposely to keep from meeting these birds.

Yours,

Will Rogers

CLUB MANAGER GIVEN $500 LIQUOR FINE

Herman Kalkbrenner, Eaglewood Proprietor, Appears in Court.

ACTION FOLLOWS RAID

James Inges of Monticello Club To Appear in Toledo Oct. 28.

Herman Kalkbrenner, proprietor of the Eaglewood club here, was given a $500 fine for violation of the liquor law by Federal Judge George P. Hahn at Toledo yesterday.

Kalkbrenner was one of three who were arrested a month ago in raids conducted here by federal agents.

His alleged bartender, Eddie Collins, received a $50 fine yesterday while James Inges, proprietor of the Monticello club, is still out on $1,000 bond on similar liquor violation charges.

In Court Yesterday

Kalkbrenner and Collins were two of a group of alleged liquor law conspirators who were fined and sentenced in the Toledo court yesterday.

Agents who conducted the raids here are reported to have confiscated a considerable quantity of alleged liquor.

At the Eaglewood club they are said to have seized 765 pints of beer, 55 pints of whisky and 20 quarts of wine. In addition, they confiscated the membership list of the organization. At the time of the raid members were having their monthly dinner. Guests were required to give proof of their identity, after which they were released.

Officers found no liquor at the Monticello club, although Inges was arrested on the strength of an alleged "buy" made by one of the raiding agents on a previous visit.

The Eaglewood club is located in a woods off the Prospect road south of the city and has been in operation for 10 years. The raid was the first ever staged on the place. The Monticello club is a new building located on the Harding Highway west of the city and was erected at a reputed cost of $22,000.

Inges' case is scheduled to come before the federal grand jury on Oct. 28

CITY POLLS OPEN FOR REGISTRATION

Voters Must Register To Be Allowed Vote in November Election.

Marion voters who wish to insure their eligibility to cast ballots at the Nov. 4 election have until 9 p. m. today to take advantage of the first of three registration days set aside this year for a permanent general registration.

Polls at the city's 42 election precincts were opened at 1 p. m. for the purpose of registering voters They will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. on next Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11, after which date it will be impossible to register for the coming election, according to C. G Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections.

Registrar judges, two of whom are in each precinct, were given instructions as to their duties today and next week when they reported to Ritzler this morning at the board of elections for supplies.

More than 14,000 Marion citizens are qualified to vote on Nov. 4 provided they register either today or on next Friday or Saturday. Failure to register, however, will mean the loss of the voter's right to cast a ballot this fall, although he may get back into the fold next year.

Citizens who are certain to be out of the city on the three registration days may register at the election board's offices on East Center street between now and Oct. 11, the last registration day, Ritzler said.

This year's registration is provided in the new election code and will eliminate future general registrations for a period of 20 years. Voters who change precincts or who move into the city after this year will record such changes at the board of election's office instead of at precinct polls as formerly.

PLEAD GUILTY TO BURGLARY

Kenneth Turner and James Beaver Held to Grand Jury; Trimmer Asks Hearing.

Kenneth Turner, 23, of 744 Creston avenue, and James Beaver, 24, also of Creston avenue, are in county jail under $7,500 bond, each awaiting action of the grand jury on three charges each of breaking and entering.

The two men pleaded guilty to the three charges when arraigned in municipal court this morning. Marion Trimmer, 21, of Oak street, denied three similar charges and is in city prison under $7,500 bond awaiting a preliminary hearing later this week.

Police today discovered a piece of bedroom furniture at the Beaver home which has been identified as stolen from the summer home of Harvey T. Gracely on Campbell road south of here. Police are also in possession of three mirrors taken from the Gracely home.

The other two charges placed against the trio involved the burglary of two general stores at Morral Sept. 23. One of the stores is owned by Amos Powell and C. H. Powell, the other by Samuel and Will Morral.

At least five other charges of burglary and breaking and entering await Beaver and Turner in courts of other counties. Trimmer is also implicated in several of these, police say. In addition to the two stores in Morral and the home near Marion, the three are

RAIL HEAD ATTACKS GOVERNMENT POLICY

Charges Transportation Laws Threaten Future Welfare of Railroads.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2—Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co told members of the American Bankers' association at their closing business session today that the government's transportation policy threatens the future welfare of the railroads.

He said profits of the railroads have been constantly nibbled away by rate reductions, beginning with the year 1921, and culminating in reductions in rates of grain.

At the same time, he said, considerable quantities of freight have been lost by the railroads in the diversion of traffic from them to inland waterways and highways.

The subject of government confiscation of the railroads through these practices, he said, demands "the honest, fair and clear thinking of the business men of America."

Lawmakers and politicians were attacked by Fred I. Kent, director of the Bankers Trust company of New York, who told the convention he deplored the "existing world wide tendency of the masses of people to follow unbalanced and unscrupulous politicians in finding remedies for economic conditions by methods in direct violation of knowledge gained by experienced men."

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Oct. 2—Gordon Stewart Northcott, 22, was hanged here today. The trap which plunged Northcott to his death was sprung at 1:09 a. m. (Marion time).

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Oct. 2—Still claiming he was innocent but admitting that four youths were put to death on his "murder farm," at Wineville, Cal., Gordon Stewart Northcott, 22-year-old Canadian, prepared to go to his death on the gallows here today.

Confronted by Mrs. Nelson Winslow and Mrs. Christine Collins, mothers of three of his asserted victims, Northcott shortly before midnight last night told them that their children were dead.

"Your boy was killed," Northcott told Mrs. Collins, "because shortly before he was killed he said his name was Walter Collins."

Mrs. Collins said she disbelieved Northcott. She said the description of the boy given by Northcott did not answer that of her son who disappeared in 1928.

Because of the numerous conflicting stories told by Northcott within the past week, Warden Holohan said that he was uncertain whether Northcott was telling the truth to the two women.

Warden Holohan indicated he will hold another interview with Northcott shortly before the execution.

FIVE KILLED IN BUILDING CRASH

Several Other Persons Injured as New York Tenement Collapses.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—The sagging foundations of a Greenwich village rooming house collapsed with a roar early today and the timbers crashed in upon 12 sleeping tenants, killing five and seriously injuring seven.

Two of the dead were women. A thirteenth tenant of the building which was a rooming house for French and Belgian residents of New York, had not come home last night and was not in the place when it collapsed.

Within a few minutes after the crash, which reverberated through the winding streets of the neighborhood, police and firemen removed the dead and injured from the debris to a dressing station, hurriedly established in a nearby fire house.

Foundation Undermined

A preliminary examination indicated the collapse was caused by undermining the foundation during the demolition of four adjoining buildings. Neighbors told Commissioner Mulrooney no precaution had been taken by the wreckers to protect the building, it was said, although they had reported several days ago that the walls appeared to be sagging.

Police first recovered the bodies of Frank Bordeon, Caarlo Tornaghi and an unidentified man.

Last of all was discovered the unconscious form of Margaret Cortaide, the landlady's granddaughter. She died before reaching a hospital. Mrs. Everist Cortaide, her mother, was found dead at about the same time, under a heavy beam.

Rhem Driven From Box; Cochrane Hits Second Home Run

Athletics Score Two Runs in First, Third and Fourth Innings; Teams Play in St. Louis Saturday.

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 2—American league baseball continued to hold the limelight today when the Philadelphia Athletics threatened to make a clean sweep of the world series by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals twice in a row. The Mackmen won today's battle, 6 to 1.

The contest concluded the teams' first series appearance on the local ball lot. No game is scheduled for Friday and the championship battle will be resumed Saturday at 2:30 p. m., Marion time, in St. Louis.

Play-by-play account of today's game follows:

First Inning

Cardinals: Douthit lifted a high fly to Dykes who caught it near the pitcher's mound. Adams flied to Simmons who ran a few feet to make the catch. Frisch hit over Simmons' head for two bases. Bottomley flied to Haas who made a running catch in center. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Athletics: Bishop lined to Douthit. Dykes rolled a fast one down to Adams who made a fine play and threw him out to Bottomley. Cochrane hit a home run over right field wall, his second in two days, and in two times at bat as he hit for the circuit in his last time at bat yesterday. Simmons singled to center. Foxx hit into center field for two bases and Simmons scored. Miller dribbled the ball down the first base line and was out to Bottomley unassisted. Two runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Second Inning

Cardinals: Hafey lifted a fly to Bishop in short center. Watkins drove the ball over the right field wall for a home run. The first circuit smash for the National leaguers. Mancuso beat out a hit to shortstop Boley who got the ball with one hand but had no chance to get him. Gelbert singled to center, Mancuso taking third. The ball bounded over Bishop's head, Rhem struck out. Douthit popped to Bishop, hitting the ball on the handle of his bat. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

Athletics: Haas struck out. Mancuso dropped the third strike but threw to Bottomley at first. Boley popped to Frisch. Earnshaw lifted a fly to Hafey in left center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning

Cardinals: Adams lifted a fly to Miller in short right. Frisch hit a hard smash to Boley who fumbled it and was charged with the first error of the series. Frisch stole second and went on to third when Cochrane's throw bounded to center field. Cochrane was charged with an error. Hafey struck out on a called third strike. No runs, no hits, two errors, one left.

Athletics: Bishop rolled to Bottomley and was out unassisted. Dykes up. Dykes struck out. Cochrane hit a bounder to Frisch who fumbled it. It was an error. Cochrane scored on Simmons double against the right field wall on which Watkins tried to make a shoestring catch. Foxx walked. Simmons scored on Miller's single to left when the throw to the plate got away from Mancuso. Foxx went to third and Miller to second. The errors were charged to Rhem. Haas lined to Douthit. Two runs, two hits, two errors, two left.

Fourth Inning

Cardinals: Watkins lifted a fly to Simmons in short left, who caught it but almost lost it in the sun. Mancuso struck out. Gelbert up. Gelbert was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Athletics: Boley bounded a fast one off Gelbert's glove for a single. Earnshaw struck out. Bishop walked. Boley and Bishop scored on Dykes hit to center field for two bases. This finished Rhem and he was taken from the box and Lindsey went in to pitch for St. Louis. Cochrane lined to Gelbert and Dykes was doubled at second unassisted. Two runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

Fifth Inning

Cardinals: Lindsey hit into right center for one base. Douthit lifted a fly to Cochrane between the plate and first base. Adams flied to Haas who made a running catch close to the infield. Frisch popped to Dykes. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Athletics: Simmons hit a high fly which Douthit caught in center field. Foxx rolled to Gelbert and was thrown out at first. Miller went to Douthit who fell after catching the ball but held it. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning

Cardinals: Bottomley lifted a fly to Bishop back of second. Hafey [illegible] to Dykes and was out to Foxx. Watkins rolled to Foxx and was out to Earnshaw who covered first. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Athletics: Haas fanned on a third called strike. Boley fouled out to Bottomley. Earnshaw was delayed in coming to bat while he put on his shoe which he had removed to examine the extent of an injury suffered in covering first. He limped as he came to bat. Earnshaw struck out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning

Cardinals: Mancuso walked. Gelbert forced Mancuso at second, Foxx to Boley. Gelbert was safe at first. Fisher took Lindsey's place at bat. Fisher struck out swinging at a curve ball. Douthit flied to Simmons in deep left. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Athletics: Sylvester Johnson went in to pitch for the Cardinals. Bishop walked. Dykes bunted to Bottomley unassisted. It was a sacrifice. Cochrane walked. Simmons rolled to Frisch and was out to Bottomley. The base runners advanced. Foxx fanned swinging hard at the last one. No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Eighth Inning

Cardinals: Adams singled to right Frisch lined to Dykes and Adams was doubled with a quick throw to Foxx. Bottomley fouled to Dykes near third base. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Athletics: Miller struck out. Haas flied to Gelbert in short field. Boley flied to Hafey who caught the ball on the run in left center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Ninth Inning

Cardinals: Hafey rolled to Boley and was out to Foxx. Watkins struck out swinging at a fast ball. Mancuso struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THERE IS JOY IN GRAPELAND

Home Brew Ruling Life Saver to California Industry, Is Report.

By United Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Oct. 2—Joyous Italian arias rang today through the San Joaquin and the Valley of the Moon and every other sunny expanse now turning dark with ripening grapes.

Hanging upon the vines in these valleys and hillsides there were enough grapes for approximately 121,800,000 gallons of choice wine—and legal. It was just a few drops less than a gallon for every person in the United States—at $1 or less a gallon.

As translated by high figures in the grape industry, the recent ruling of the national prohibition director, W. W. Woodcock, has provided a solution of the problem of over-production of California's tremendous grape crop it is claimed.

Woodcock's decision, grape growers say to the effect that home brewers cannot be reached by the law when no selling of their product is involved, means that there is no legal way to stop the sale of grapejuice that will turn into good, pure table wine by the simple expedient of "carelessly" omitting to cork the bottles.

A cooperative marketing organization is being formed, it was said, and plans being made to distribute a high grade of juice, potentially a sweet pure wine, at about $1 a gallon.

Two grape juice plants, one of Fresno, heart of the industry, one several miles away, have been renovated and are ready to turn out a record run, it is claimed.

The distressed industry talked last week about leaving 100,000 tons or more of grapes to die on the vines and create a shortage. That talk however, has been abandoned and growers are thinking about the 100,000 tons in terms of 6,000,000 gallons—several millions of dollars gross for what had a few days ago been regarded as sacrificial stock

The Stars Say—

For Friday Oct. 3

RATHER adverse planetary conditions are in dominance on this day. However, their force is not of first magnitude, and with care current affairs may be expected to move along with nothing more serious than trivial anxieties or small delays or disappointments. These may operate strongly in business as well as social affiliations, in the home, or especially in employment. It would be well not to invoke rebuke or censure from those in places of authority.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which a great deal is to depend on their own rising superior to circumstances. There may be many small anxieties or delays, social or domestic disappointments or perplexities and a state of affairs in the employment calling for discretion and wise behavior, with care not to give offense to those in authority.

A child born on this day should be given early training in preserving its equanimity and hopeful outlook under trivial tests and disappointments, as well as to conforming to the dictates and desires of those in positions above them, as otherwise difficulties in employment are probable.

"THE SERIOUSNESS OF GUARDING THE DELICATE NOSE AND THROAT MEMBRANES"

Says

BRIG. GENERAL WALTER C. MONTGOMERY

Graduate of Columbia University, College of Physicians and Surgeons. Instructor and Assistant Professor Department of Nose and Throat, Cornell Medical School, Cornell University, for 28 years. Sanitary Inspector, with rank of Colonel, and later Divisional Surgeon in the 27th Division in the World War in France. Awarded Distinguished Service Medal (U.S.) and Croix de Guerre with Palms (Belgium) and other medals for war service in France.

"The greatest triumphs of medicine will be in the direction of public education on the importance of preventive measures. And in this connection I cannot lay enough emphasis on the seriousness of guarding the delicate nose and throat membranes and accessory sinuses. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of the LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos, I regard as a laudable effort on your part to give the great army of American smokers the benefit of recent scientific conclusions."

Walter C. Montgomery

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Brig. Gen. Walter C. Montgomery to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE'S famous Toasting Process. The statement of Brig. Gen. Montgomery appears on this page.

NEGRO FOUND GUILTY OF CARRYING WEAPON

Henry Blue of Mansfield Given Two Years in Ohio Pen.

After a jury had found him guilty yesterday of carrying concealed weapons, Henry Blue of Mansfield, colored, was sentenced to two years in the Ohio penitentiary by Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court.

Blue was accused of having a revolver in his possession when he was taken from a freight train near the Union depot on the night of Sept. 1, although the gun was found in the ground nearby. Railroad detectives made the arrest.

Kenneth Robinson, appointed by the court, defended Blue. The case for the state was handled by Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen.

Court House Clock May Get Its Faces Washed

THE courthouse clock, whose dirty face or rather, faces, prevents an observer from telling the time of night, may undergo a renovation in the near future, if tentative plans of county commissioners are carried out.

The commissioners have asked the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. to submit a bid for lighting the clock's four faces with a system of bulbs whose rays would be cast upward from the base of the clock tower, it was learned today. At present it is lighted from the inside with gas jets.

Possibility also was expressed that the faces might also be cleaned during the lighting installation in order to make more effective the renovation process.

1,500 CANDIDATES TO TAKE 6TH DEGREE

Large Class Expected for Initiatory Work at Grange Meeting.

The largest sixth degree class in the history of the Ohio State grange is expected at the annual meeting to be held here in December, according to a recent state grange monthly publication. An analysis over the state indicates that at least 1,500 applications should be made for this degree.

A tentative program is for the degree work to be preceded by the grange pageant to be presented by the Marion county grange and address by a speaker of national reputation.

For several years sixth degree classes have been influenced by the initiatory work done in various parts of the state prior to the national session at Cleveland.

This year, however, Marion county leaders started the goal of 1,500 for the sixth degree by setting their mark at 500 candidates. Delaware county has promised 100 candidates and word received here from Allen county indicates that at least 100 will be in a class from that county. The Cleveland session in 1921 gave the degree to a class of 1,142 candidates, and leaders of the state session in December hope to break this record.

MAY FORM BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

Organization Similar to One in Columbus May Be Organized Here.

That a movement to introduce in Marion the system of the Columbus Better Business bureau was indicated in an announcement yesterday of that bureau that it will make an effort to establish similar groups in a number of Ohio cities, through cooperation of committees of local chambers of commerce.

The Better Business bureau investigates various businesses to expose unfair practices and fraudulent schemes, accoring to the Associated Press dispatch from Columbus telling of the plans of that city's bureau.

Other cities included in the program are Zanesville, Athens, Nelsonville, Logan, Lancaster, Newark, Mt. Vernon, Mansfield, Circleville, Delaware, Washington C. H.

The local Chamber of Commerce has not yet been approached on the matter of organizing a branch of the bureau here, its officials said today.

CUPID LAGS

Only 18 Marriage Licenses Issued Here in Month.

Dan Cupid's stock in Marion county took a slump during September, according to the marriage license register in probate court.

Only 18 licenses were issued during the month as compared to 43 for the same month a year ago.

In common pleas court eight divorces were granted and 13 other petitions for divorce were filed during the month.

Hunting Licenses Boost Fees of County Office

Fees earned by common pleas court during September totaled $677.90 as compared to $363.35 received during August, according to a report made today by Clerk of Courts E. B. Grigsby.

Part of the increase is due to the distribution of hunting licenses, 622 having been distributed during July, August and September. This number is a slight decline for the corresponding period a year ago when 703 were issued.

Red Cross Aids Vet To Get Compensation

After working almost continuously for more than a year, officials of the local Red Cross chapter have been successful in obtaining an increased disability allowance and $1,200 compensation for a Marion county World war veteran, according to Miss Margaret Dowd, chapter secretary.

As a result of the local chapter, working in cooperation with several other chapters on this particular case, the veteran was adjudged totally disabled and given a monthly allowance of $100.

In two other claims on which officials of the chapter have been working for some time, compensation allowances of $361 and $196 respectively were obtained this week, according to Miss Dowd.

MRS. MILEY PRESIDES AT RED CROSS MEET

Marion Woman Conducts Discussion at Regional Conference in Lima.

Mrs. W. E. Miley, chairman of the Red Cross nursing service of the local chapter, conducted a round-table discussion of health work at a region conference for chapter workers in Lima yesterday.

Miss Florence Spaulding, supervising nurse in the local chapter, also attended the meeting and acted as secretary at the roundtable discussion.

A report on nutrition work accomplished in Marion schools last year by Miss Esther Tress, nutritionist, was read at the conference.

At a similar conference in Columbus last Monday, Miss Margaret Dowd, secretary of the local chapter, gave a talk on home service work of the Red Cross. Others attending this conference were Mayor L. Don Jones, Earl Smart, chairman of the chapter executive committee, Carl Watrous, member of the executive committee, and Mrs Ethel C. Bauman, life-saving and and swimming instructor.

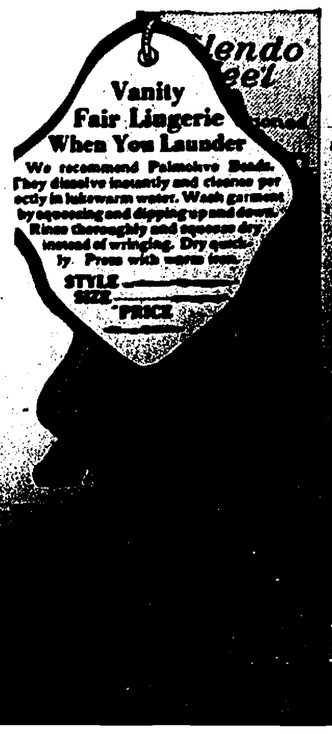
Famous Silk Manufacturers unite with the Committee of 17*

in recommending PALMOLIVE BEADS for washing fine silk garments

CORTICELLI · HOLEPROOF · KAYSER
LUXITE · PHOENIX · STEHLI
VANITY FAIR · VAN RAALTE

Kayser gives the name "solo garment" to this type of all-in-one glove silk underapparel. Its gleaming, lustrous weave is kept lovely when you wash it in Palmolive Beads. That's why Kayser recommends this new soap for use on their underthings, silk stockings and gloves.



Vanity Fair Lingerie When You Launder
We recommend Palmolive Beads. They dissolve instantly and cleanse perfectly in lukewarm water. Wash garment by squeezing and dipping up and down. Rinse thoroughly and squeeze dry instead of wringing. Dry quickly. Press with warm iron.

HERE is the most authoritative information any woman could have on proper washing of fine silk things. . . .

The advice of silk manufacturers themselves! Leading manufacturers—like Kayser, Vanity Fair, Corticelli.

They know the importance of careful washing! They know that the most painstaking manufacturer cannot produce silk garments that will withstand harsh soaps.

Find Palmolive Beads ideal

Every one of these manufacturers has conducted prolonged laboratory tests with soaps. And all arrive at the same result . . . there's no soap like Palmolive Beads for washing fine silks!

"Palmolive Beads dissolve instantly in water of the lowest temperature and rinse out completely," says Kayser. "The olive and palm oils cleanse gently and mildly, protecting sheen, lustre and fibre."

"Because of its olive and palm oil content, Palmolive Beads is an ideal soap for the cleansing of washable silks," says Corticelli.

Agree with Committee of 17

In their enthusiastic approval of Palmolive Beads, these famous manufacturers confirm the opinions of the Committee of 17. This committee of 17 of America's most distinguished women worked with the makers of Palmolive Beads in the development of this new soap. They unanimously approved Palmolive Beads as the superlative soap for fine fabrics.

Trust your finest lingerie, your most precious hosiery to this safe soap, made of olive and palm oils. Get a box at your dealer's today. Generous size package, 10 cents.

You Break It; We Fix It. Marion Welding Co., 132 Oak st.—Adv.

Pimples on Face, Chest, Arms and Hands. Cuticura Healed.

"My face, chest, arms and hands were broken out with pimples that were hard and red. They itched badly and I was always scratching them. Some of them would break open and then fester. My clothing aggravated the breaking out, and when I put my hands in water they itched and burned. The irritation kept me awake at night. I had the trouble about fourteen months.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first application seemed to stop the itching and burning and in two weeks I was healed." (Signed) Arthur R. Simpson, 250 W. 61st Pl., Chicago, Illinois

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

CLEVELAND MAN IS GLAD HE FOUND KONJOLA

Happy To Tell of Results Received Through Use of New and Different Medicine.

MR. WILLIAM COLA

"I am glad I found Konjola," said Mr. William Cola, 735 Hamilton avenue, Cleveland. "Now I no more than touch the pillow than I am asleep. I was tired and worn out and often lay awake for hours unable to sleep. My appetite was so poor that most people ate more at one meal than I ate in three. I was weak and run down. Two cups of coffee sufficed for my breakfast and at dinner time I was not hungry. But what a difference since taking Konjola! I do not have that weak feeling, my appetite has improved and my work is much easier. I can truthfully say that Konjola helped me."

"Thousands have said the same, thousands have had the same experience with this master medicine. Konjola is a medicine for the aged and the infant. It has become a household word in thousands of American homes.

Konjola is sold in Marion, Ohio, at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

City and village meat markets were inspected during the month by Dr Gruber, as were a number of Marion county farms which supply local dairies with milk.

Twenty-nine unsatisfactory and unsanitary conditions in the city were ordered remedied by Sanitary Policeman C. M. Tobin during September, his monthly report shows In addition to this work, Tobin made 41 visits for investigation and relief.

A number of consultations with local physicians and teachers relative to health conditions in the city were held by Dr. N Sifritt, city and county health commissioner, his report shows. Three typhoid fever cases were reported in September.

Six water samples were collected and tested for purity by Dr. Sifritt.

Report of Miss Mabel Hastings for the combined city and Red Cross nursing service shows a total of 453 visits were made on cases handled by the nurses in September.

BUILD UP HEALTH WITHOUT FISHY OIL

MOTHERS, give children a fair chance in school. Don't let poor health keep them behind.

Give all the benefits of pure cod liver oil, in quick tasteless tablets. No nasty, fishy taste to make children sick. Doctors everywhere recommend these tablets. Not a medicine, but a highly concentrated food extract made from purest cod liver oil.

Insurance Salesmen Return from Conference

W. F. Schweinfurth, C. E. Smith, H. E. Neidig and R. G. Mish, local representatives of the Prudential Insurance Co. have returned from Chicago where they attended a three-day business convention of the company at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The 200 delegates present represented a group of 10,000 men employed in the company's agency force. Special note was taken by the Marion representatives that the total volume of business exceeded that of any year in the 54 in which the company has been organized.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—One hundred cats are 99 too many. A great orchestra maintained by Miss Grace Dusen Martell in her basement apartment on the upper West Side has been ordered disbanded by Magistrate McGee because neighbors complained. The alley strays found a home with her. The kids in the neighborhood saw to that. The court has permitted her to keep one cat. The order won't do any good, she told the judge. The boys will throw more cats in the window.

BRUSSELS — King Albert dips his bread in his morning coffee when he can. "The queen doesn't like it and only lets me do it when there is none present but the family," he explained to his hosts on a visit to the Alps.

EAST ORANGE, N. J.—A rope inside a theater next Sunday is to show where East Orange gets off and Orange begins. They are different towns and quite individualistic. Orange permits Sunday movies. East Orange forbids them. The theater straddles the border.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Fifty bewhiskered youths are to take part in a football game, constituting just two teams without subs. In a pageant celebrating the city's 250th anniversary they are to depict the first intercollegiate football game, that between Rutgers and Princeton in 1869, when there were 25 men on a side and shaving was not so popular.

NEW YORK—Two thousand girls and women, ages ranging from 6 to 60 years, desire instruction from Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who is to coach some 40 selected singers of talent and promise. The 2,000 have written her.

A. I. U. CABINET MEETS

Mrs. Ida Uncapher was hostess to members of the American Insurance Union at a cabinet meeting last night at her home 593 North Prospect street. During the business session plans were made for a Christmas entertainment. A social hour was enjoyed and tables arranged for euchre. Awards were presented Mrs. Mary Moloney, Mrs. Eva Soos, Joseph Soos and John Organ. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs Bert Brashares and Miss Leona Hammeral.

CALLED TO CLEVELAND

H. D. Webb of 282 Spencer street has been called to Cleveland where his father A. J. Webb, traffic representative for the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad Co., is in a serious condition at St. Alexis hospital, suffering from injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile Monday afternoon in Cleveland. The accident occurred as Mr Webb was crossing the street. He suffered injuries to his chest and face. Mr. Webb who is past 70 years of age, is prominent in railroad and Masonic circles.

Ready to Go! and happy, too because... a clear skin makes for popularity

BODILY VIGOR and natural skin freshness come from the same source—healthy red-blood-cells. When you tire easily or your skin is sallow and pale or broken out, common sense suggests that every possible step be taken to correct it. S.S.S. should be your safeguard. It restores the red-blood-cells to normal. The system tones up, skin eruptions and sallow complexion disappear. Your appetite picks up, your whole body is strengthened, invigorated! If your vitality and clear skin are slipping away from you try S.S.S. Get the large size bottle. At all drug stores.

In addition to having proved a charming month, September must also be given credit for having broken the prolonged drought.

Reports of European origin to the effect that Russia is dumping wheat to avoid bankruptcy, its currency being at the point of collapse, may be questioned. A country which establishes the purchasing power of its currency by force and violence certainly needn't worry about its quality.

A woman out in La Salle, Illinois, is seeking a divorce from her husband, to whom she was married fifty-five years ago and with whom she has not lived for the last thirty-nine years. It's a shame for a woman to take a rash step like that without a long period of earnest consideration!

Announcement comes from Guayaquil that President Isidro Ayora, of Ecuador, is soon to resign and quit his office to bring about harmony in his country. Maybe that will turn the trick, but bringing harmony in a Latin-American republic, at this distance, looks like a job which will require something more than the resignation of a president.

Chairman Legge has a right to laugh at the charge that his board is aiding the grape growers of California in their campaign to encourage the production of home-made wine. The California grape growers do not need any aid under present-day conditions. The situation is entirely to their liking as it is.

A general strike of ladies' tailors and dressmakers employed in 300 exclusive Fifth avenue shops in New York City has been called owing to the refusal of employers to meet a demand for a weekly three-dollar increase in wages. Now wouldn't it strike the average reader that the present is just about the psychological time not to declare a strike?

Communists attacked a procession of 150 Fascists in Unterbergruen, Germany, and wounded twenty-nine of the marchers. The number of injured reds is unknown as they were spirited into homes nearby. So long as the Fascists and reds maintain such antagonism, the German government needn't worry over what might be the result of a coalition of the republic's radical elements.

Unusual Construction Activity.

One billion, one hundred million dollars were expended in the construction of public works and utilities by national, state and local governments and utility corporations during the first six months of the present year, a gain of $400,000,000 over the construction expenditure along the same lines for the corresponding six-month period in 1929. Such was the announcement of Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, in a radio address, one night recently.

Of this enormous sum, the assistant secretary stated, $360,000,000 were expended on highways, about $200,000,000 for educational buildings, $105,000,000 for pipe lines, $130,000,000 on railways, $62,000,000 for public buildings and $50,000,000 for sewerage systems and smaller amounts for waterfront developments, water supply systems and other improvements.

"State and municipal governments," Dr. Klein said by way of comment on these marked activities in relation to the unemployment situation which developed at the beginning of the year and from which the country is only now slowly passing, "are coming to recognize the economic advantage of public works construction as one means of attack on the problem of unemployment. So far as it goes, it is one of the wisest, soundest, most productive ways of dealing with the situation."

Some have been prone to deny any concrete beneficial outcome as a result of the business conference called by the President, last winter, at which he urged the speeding up of construction. If the $400,000,000 increase in construction expenditure for the first six months of this year over the first half of last is not the result of the policies and plans which were the outcome of that conference, how else may it be explained? Certainly none will claim that a $400,000,000 increase in construction expenditure during a six-month period of depression over the construction expenditure in the corresponding period of a year of such abnormal business activity as 1929 could have been anticipated in the ordinary course of events. The folly of such a contention would be a thing for raucous laughter.

No. Let us be fair to Mr. Hoover, and give him credit for calling the business conference and concede its accomplishment in bringing about the abnormal activity it aroused in public works and utility construction which has marked the year thus far.

Dumping of Foreign-Made Goods.

Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch did not depart from the realm of fact when, in addressing a Cleveland gathering a day or two since, he held an influential element of American industrialism in part responsible alike for present day economic conditions and for a situation which is bound to work against American prosperity in the future. The great American industrial corporations which have erected enormous plants abroad and manned them with European workmen, he held, are not only working to the great disadvantage of the American employment situation and retarding the recovery of the country from the period of depression through which we have been passing for the last nine months, but also erecting barriers in the way of the maintenance of healthy business conditions in the future.

The senator cited statistics to show that American factories in Europe had increased from 200 in 1928 to 1,200 in 1930, while the American capital invested in foreign countries had increased from $2,000,000 in 1913 to $15,000,000 in 1928 and on up to $26,000,000,000 in 1930. He recited how enormous forces of European workmen, drawing wages entirely incompatible with the American standard of living, are turning out tractors and other products, which are shipped into this country free of duty as agricultural instruments.

Objection can not well be raised by Americans when American capital is invested in foreign lands for the exploitation of foreign markets, although foreign industrialists may have ground for objection, but there is well established ground for objection when American manufacturers build, equip and operate factories abroad to escape the American scale of wages and then dump the product made in their foreign factories by foreign workmen on to the American market in unfair competition with the same line of product made by American workmen.

Holding that the expatriation of American capital and the transfer of payrolls to foreign countries is one of the greatest menaces to America that has faced the country in all its history, the senator said:

"The only way to protect our market, to safeguard our prosperity, is to fix tariff rates that will keep out those foreign products or make them come in on a competitive basis. Certain rates are too low in the 1930 tariff. There are many inequalities. But a sincere effort was made to keep the wheels of industry running, and for the first time in history the tariff law recognizes the interdependent relationship between agriculture and industry.

"A comprehensive method was devised under the flexible provisions to revise rates and adjust inequalities promptly. When the law gets to operating smoothly there won't be much talk about the tariff in politics."

The foregoing is not offered because of the fact that it is the utterance of a candidate of one of the old parties to succeed himself in the United States senate. So far as this writing is concerned, the source of the facts and statistics set out is not material. They would have equal worth coming from Democrat or Republican, wet or dry. Our sole purpose is to set out the statistics cited and the situation they show exists and the cure for it which, it is held, may be worked under the Smoot-Hawley tariff law. If that measure can not work a cure, then there is need for a law which will, for the handicap on American labor resulting from the dumping, duty free, of foreign-made goods into this country is unfair to American labor and unfair to the country as a whole, for, make no mistake, prosperity for labor, whether in factory or field, store or office, spells prosperity for the country as a whole.

A. C. Simons, American engineer from Flint, Michigan, who has just arrived in Paris from a stay in Russia, tells how the Russian serfs are forced to maintain a man-killing pace in the raising of wheat at the point of bolshevik guns. "Liberty and Equality!"

Their twenty-first child has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham, of Iron Mountain, Michigan, who have been married twenty-seven years. Did anybody say anything about race suicide?

An average of 100 persons killed daily in motor traffic accidents in the United States. Little need for worry about the wiping out of mankind if it is able to stand a steady drain such as this in addition to the almost countless other drains on it!

Possibly Thought Transference.

It must be humiliating to the decent element of Chicago's citizenship, and particularly so to the decent element of the city's police department, to have broadcasted throughout the land the fact that the city's gangsters have so close a connection with the activities of the police department that they have knowledge of police orders addressed to some of the departmental heads of which such heads have no knowledge other than hearsay.

Recently the original list of a lot of hoodlums scheduled for vagrancy prosecutions and three copies of it disappeared from a desk in the police department's headquarters. In consequence, an alleged duplicate list was made up from memory, but it so happened that the names of eight Capone gangsters did not appear on the new list. Shortly thereafter, in a raid on the quarters of some of the Capone gangsters, the original list, containing forty-one names, was found in the possession of a Capone bondsman, and, strange to relate, the names of the eight Capone gangsters inadvertently omitted from the duplicate list were found crossed off.

It is manifest that the Chicago criminal world has a spy or spies at work in the police department. The stealing of the original and three duplicate lists and the finding of the original as it was found can hardly be otherwise explained, but the why of the elimination of eight names from the alleged duplicate "typed from memory" by a policeman at headquarters is not so manifest. Chicago people are asking: Were the eight names crossed off on the original list crossed off to make it conform to the new list, or was the original list censored by the Capone gangsters before the new list was typed?

Who knows? Maybe it was a case of thought transference from Capone headquarters to the police department.

Editorial Opinion.

POINTING TO PRISON REFORM.

A public service of great value to Ohio has been performed by the welfare advisory commission appointed by Governor Cooper after the Columbus prison fire. The six men named to the commission for five months have been studying prison conditions in this and other states. To this task they have devoted their time and money, without thought of remuneration from the state. For its unselfishness alone their effort deserves the gratitude of every citizen.

They have supplied, however, a more cogent reason for applause. In a preliminary report submitted to the governor the whole prison system of Ohio is taken apart for examination, and put together again, in plan, with all the more glaring of the old abuses wiped out. This has been done in a courageous, straightforward manner, with no minced words, no effort to gloss over conditions which the whole state knows to be insufferable, or to shift or deny responsibility. The responsibility that has long been shrugged off by the legislature still lies in the hands of that body.

It is hardly necessary to repeat the commission's report of what it found at Ohio prisons. Overcrowding, idleness, lack of distinction between hardened criminals, feeble-minded and those who, with intelligent treatment, could be rescued for social usefulness; no basic theory of reform, probation, parole, and no opportunities to put such a theory into action even if it existed; a generally low level of personnel—these are perhaps among the most important indictments made in the report.

The key-tone of the commission's recommendations for reform is the classification of prisoners and their segregation and treatment according to class. In this way, and only in this way, can the incorrigibly anti-social, the mentally defective and the prisoners for whom there is hope of reform be kept from association in the same pit. Without such a method, and the facilities necessary to employ it, the term prison reform is a joke.

Since the first of July a newly created scientific branch of the welfare department has been working toward classification of prisoners. The physical changes in the prison system advocated by the advisory commission look to an early day when classification can be put into effect. These changes, it might be said, call for expansion and reorganization of prisons, reformatories and schools already in use. Instead of a vast program of prison building, it suggests the addition of two new units, housing 1,200 prisoners each, and a moderate expansion of the Grafton state farm. The insistence of the commission that new prison units should not exceed a capacity of 1,200 is in line with the need for segregated treatment and with modern thought on prison reform. When the commission points out that, under present conditions, Ohio's prison population will double in the next ten years, its recommendation for a thorough revamping of methods of probation and parole demands serious consideration.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Ohio's Last Pioneer Governor.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

In the fall of 1793 when Nathaniel Massie determined to attempt a surveying tour of the Scioto river, a very dangerous business then because of the warlike attitude of the Indians, he took into his employment a stalwart young man who was to play an important part in the history of the state.

That man was Duncan McArthur, a native of New York, who had come into the Ohio country and learned thoroughly the ways of the pioneer. Apparently he knew little of the business of land surveying, for while Massie selected three assistant surveyors, McArthur was for none of these positions. He served as an ordinary chain bearer or marksman.

He had already demonstrated his bravery in warfare with the Indians and that seemed to have been his principal recommendation to Massie. He became skilled in surveying later, however, and proved a competitor with Massie, who was surveying tracts for many people, having a great reputation as a surveyor among the people in the East, and at the same time selecting particularly rich lands to acquire for himself.

Before being elected governor of the state, he had served in both branches of the legislature and in congress. Native ability together with Scotch shrewdness that enabled him to acquire knowledge on all sides, equipped this man for the highest office in his adopted state. He was the last of the purely pioneer governors, however

Don't Neglect Throat Trouble.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

"Vincent's Angina" is an infectious inflammation of the mucous lining of the tonsils and throat. It is commonly known as "trench mouth." The disease is accompanied by great pain. It is sometimes mistaken for diphtheria, but is caused by a special and peculiar germ

Ulcers and patches of membrane appear in the mouth and throat. There are headache, general discomfort, coated tongue, and high temperature. Very characteristic are the pain and swelling in the neck, particularly in the salivary glands under the lower jaw. The symptoms are long continued and not so severe as in the ordinary types of sore throat.

It is a disease that may be associated with abscessed teeth, diseased gums, and all forms of dental trouble. Every one should understand what a menace to health a diseased mouth is. The broken and ulcerated tissues are swimming in pus germs. Such surfaces may become infected at any time with dangerous germs. Persons who are debilitated and who neglect cleanliness of the mouth are particularly liable to attack by the germs of Vincent's Angina.

There is a close resemblance existing between tonsilitis, diphtheria and Vincent's Angina. It is only in the laboratory that the true nature of the disease can be determined. For this reason any unusual throat trouble should come under a doctor's care. Then if the disease is found to be Vincent's Angina the patient should be under strict supervision until all the symptoms have disappeared.

There are two forms of the disease. The first is the superficial type, in which there is simple ulceration. In another form the deeper tissues are involved.

Immediate attention must be given to the patient's general condition. Teeth and gums should be looked after by a competent dentist. It is particularly important to have the patient see to it that there is utmost cleanliness of the mouth and infected tract. The tonsils, mouth and throat must be kept clear of the membrane. A cleansing spray, wash or gargle should be used.

The patient should avoid the use of alcohol and tobacco during the progress of the disease. The physician will advise about the diet.

KNOCKING THE MAYOR.

Editor Star—I note by the evening paper that Mayor Jones seems to be very badly disturbed at a few radios playing late at night. Seems strange that would have to be discouraged when so many things of actual importance might demand his attention. But, of course, every public official has to have an alibi when anything of importance happens, such as a murder or a robbery and no one is apprehended. Every one with only one light on his car is arrested. That gets people to talking of what they are doing rather than what they should do. In my humble judgment, he has but two things to be greatly disturbed over; viz., the Main street paving job, which has just reached the stage of entrance into the highest state court, and the election which is one year hence. The New Mechanics.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Each decade in the past forty years has been characterized by some epochal and revolutionary physical theory. The electron theory marked the closing decade of the last century. The theory of relativity had its rise in the first decade of the present century. The quantum theory is associated with the second decade. The third decade has been signalized by the recognition of the undulant nature of matter. Material waves have been found to exist, thus placing the science of mechanics on an entirely new foundation.

When Einstein in 1905 introduced the conception of light quanta, he registered a return to the former corpuscular theory of light which had long been abandoned. In 1923 Arthur H. Compton made a discovery of what has been termed by physicists the Compton effect. It is revealed by the fact that, when X-rays are scattered by atoms, they experience an increase in their wavelength, which is independent of the wavelength, and only depends on the angle of scattering. Compton was able to show that, when collisions take place between light quanta and electrons, both the law of the conservation of energy and the principle of the conservation of momentum are satisfied, provided one attributes to every light quantum such a quantity of momentum that, when it is multiplied by the wavelength, the elementary quantum of action results.

Important conclusion likewise were drawn from two of Einstein's crucial tests of the theory of relativity: the deflection of light rays in a gravitational field and the displacement of spectral lines toward the red. It was concluded that light quanta possess not only inertial but also gravitational mass. This the corpuscular theory of light attributed to light the essential properties of matter: discontinuous structure, inertia and weight. In view of these conclusions, it was only natural to endow matter with that attribute which primarily characterizes light, namely, its wave nature.

As Arthur Hass says in "The New Physics:" "Space is filled with electro-magnetic waves of all possible frequencies." The new physics reveals a picture of nature of great simplicity. Actually it is not nature that is complicated, but only the path that leads to the true knowledge of nature.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

A family moved from the city to the suburbs, and were told they ought to get a watchdog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a near-by dealer.

Shortly afterward the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul while the dog slept. The householder went to the dealer and told him about it.

"Well, what you need now," said the dealer, "is a little dog to wake up the big dog!"

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Oct. 2—When Mrs. Frede Dent Grant, the surviving daughter-in-law the civil war general, died at her beautiful mansion in historic Georgetown in the ca the other day, she left her son, Lieutenant onel U. S. Grant, III, director of public bu ings and parks in Washington, probably of the most interesting collections of An icana extant.

The collection consists of mementos of eral Grant, many of them secured on his rou the-world trip, and gifts of foreign natio These mementos are housed in a room in Grant mansion, which also becomes the pr erty of the son.

There is one piece in the collection regar as priceless—the originals of Abraham coln's remarks to Grant and the general's sponse, in their own handwritings, on the casion when Grant received his commission lieutenant general and commander-in-chief the union armies.

What Lincoln read to Grant consists eighty-four words. What Grant read to coln consists of eighty-two words. The st of why the two fitted together with dovetai accuracy is a cherished story of the gener descendants.

Senator Johnson is among the most ard baseball fans in the capital. Senator Phe knew nothing of the game.

One day Walter Johnson, in his day one the greatest of pitchers and now manager the Washington baseball club, and Ty Co paid the senate a visit. The two were troduced all around and were the objects much hero worship.

Senator Phelan edged his way over to "C onel" Ed Halsey, secretary to the Democra wing of the senate, and asked:

"Ed, who is this Ty Cobb anyhow?"

Halsey almost collapsed, but he managed tell the senator that Cobb made his living pla ing baseball.

Meanwhile Senator Johnson was having t time of his life with the two players.

OHIO CITY IS HOST TO HOOVER TODAY

Cleveland Holds Notable Reception as President Arrives for Address.

an elaborate suite was reserved for them, the President and Mrs Hoover had a brief pause in the day's program but at 1 p. m. the President was the guest at a luncheon of 250 bankers, and Mrs. Hoover was the guest at a luncheon of 250 Cleveland women at the Women's City club.

The day's official program was arranged to allow the President and Mrs. Hoover an afternoon of relaxation with a private dinner at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Hoover Arrives

Mrs. Hoover came here last night from Indianapolis, where she attended the national convention of the Girl Scouts of America, and planned to join Mr. Hoover aboard his special train at Bedford, a short distance east of Cleveland. Her program was to share the public reception for the president, be the luncheon guest of the Women's City club and spend the afternoon motoring, rejoining Mr. Hoover in the evening.

The occasion was Cleveland's first opportunity to greet a President since Woodrow Wilson came here on a raw, wintry day 14 years ago to defend his policy of neutrality in the world war, but the route of Mr. Hoover's escort was the same that Abraham Lincoln traversed in 1861 enroute to Washington for his inaugural.

Address on Radio

Mr. Hoover's address tonight was awaited with unusual interest, particularly because the bankers' convention has dealt at length with business depression His remarks, although non-political, also come at the outset of the congressional campaign.

His speech will be delivered at 8:30 p. m. (Marion time), and will be broadcast over national hookups of the Columbia and National Broadcasting companies. Close to 15,000 persons, mostly delegates to the bankers convention, are expected in his immediate audience in the public hall.

EXPECT VITAL MESSAGE

President to Discuss Business Situation in Speech, Is Forecast

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2 — The scheduled address by President Hoover at 8:30 tonight overshadowed all else at the closing sessions of the fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' association here today.

There was convention business to be completed, but the bankers approached it with their minds centered mainly on what the President will have to say tonight. In fact, the entire world was awaiting the President's address with keen anticipation.

Business conditions of the country, which the Democrats have made an issue by blaming his administration for the present depression, were expected to be the subject of the president. It was anticipated that his address will constitute the administration's answer to the criticism of the Democrats and the insurgents since the business smash of a year ago.

CHURCHES ASK AID TO DEFEAT WET FORCES

Denominations Believe November Elections To Be Prohibition Crisis.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—The belief that prohibition is facing its greatest test in the November elections was expressed by church leaders today in issuing, through the Christian Herald, a call to set aside Nov. 2 the Sunday before election day, as christian citizenship Sunday.

The call was signed by the moderators of the different protestant denominations, and officials of the anti-saloon league and the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

"Back of this call," said the announcement, "is the conviction that the churches which brought prohibition to pass are challenged now as they have not been challenged before to maintain it."

The Christian Herald appeal said, in part:

"The drive to destroy the eighteenth amendment and restore the regulated liquor traffic has assumed unprecedented proportions. That drive will not be turned back unless the christian citizenship of the nation is aroused to turn it back at the polls.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 10018.

In the Matter of Henry Myers, a minor.

To Howard Myers, Guardian of Henry Myers, a minor:

Howard Myers, Guardian of Henry Myers, will take notice that on the 1st day of October, 1930, application was filed in the Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio, for your removal as said guardian, because of your alleged unlawful acts therein, in that you have failed to file an account as provided by law and have abscounded from the State and cannot be located by parties interested in said estate.

Said application is set for hearing on the 7th day of October, 1930, at 1 o'clock P. M., at which time you will appear in said court and answer respecting said charges. If you fail to appear, the Court will proceed to hear the same in your absence and make such orders as the facts will justify.

Witness my hand and seal of this court this 1st day of October, 1930.

OSCAR GAST,
Probate Judge.

33 New Autos Sold; Marriages Show Decline

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 2 — From the bill of sale record kept by the clerk of courts 33 new cars and 15 new trucks were sold in the county during September. Only four marriage licenses were issued during September this year while nine were issued for the same period in 1929. No fire calls were reported to the local fire department last month which is an unusual record in that September is one of the dryest months of the year.

DENTISTS TO MEET HERE IN FEBRUARY

Central Ohio Picks Marion for Next Session of Group.

The Central Ohio Dental society chose Marion for its annual meeting, Feb. 4, 1931, yesterday at a meeting in Mansfield. Sessions were held at the West Brook Country club with 60 members present. Dr. A. F. Linscott of Marion was chairman of the program committee, which included Dr. E W. Imbody of Marion and Dr. F. P. Leonard of Bucyrus.

A golf tournament at 8 a. m. preceded the morning program. Dr. O. G. Stephenson of Marion, president of the society, opened the meeting. A report and reading of the minutes was given by the secretary, Dr. F. R. Mann. Committee reports were heard and other business transacted.

Dr. R. R. Roush of Columbus addressed the afternoon session on surgical pyorrhea and sinus disease, illustrated with pictures. I. J. Dresch of the Dresch Laboratory Co. of Toledo lectured on "Bakelite and Other Kindred Plate Materials." His lecture was illustrated with pictures.

Dentists attending from Marion were Drs. O. G. Stephenson, F. R. Mann, O. M. Young, A. J. Wagner, E W. Imbody, B. J. Cehrs, Dee Sherer, A. B. Lawson, V. C. Kissel and A. F. Linscott.

KENTON REPUBLICANS TO STAGE BARBECUE

Gov. Cooper and Grant E. Mouser Listed at Speakers for Party Rally.

Plans for the state Republican campaign as well as local county campaigns were outlined before representatives of each of the 88 counties yesterday at a meeting in the Deshler-Wallick hotel in Columbus, at which three Marion county Republicans were present.

R. E Prettyman, county executive committee chairman; Avery M. Davis, central committee chairman, and Mrs. Cora McKeever were the county's representatives. A fourth delegate Henry Lawson, was unable to attend.

It was announced at the meeting that Vice-President Curtis, who will come into the state in the interests of the national congressional campaign, will speak at the Hartman Theater in Columbus on Wednesday night, Oct. 8.

Edward Schorr, state chairman, and Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, state chairwoman, were the principal speakers at the meeting, at which Ralph Cole of Findlay, one of the campaign speakers, also gave an address.

Congressman Grant E. Mouser of Marion will be one of the principal speakers at an eighth district Republican barbecue to be staged at Lake Idlewild, Kenton, Friday, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Governor Myers Y. Cooper will be the principal speaker, while other state and district candidates are listed for addresses.

The barbecue will attract a large delegation of Marion County Republicans, it is reported. A large ox will be roasted and will be made the subject of a feast for the visitors.

DEFINE ATTITUDE ON IMPORTANT ISSUES

Catholic Women Conclude Tenth Annual Convention in Denver.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 2—Definite stands were taken by the national council of Catholic women on a wide range of subjects as they closed their tenth annual convention here last night, after re-electing Miss Mary G. Hawks of Summit, N. J., president.

The organization went on record as follows:

Opposing attempts to federalize education.

Opposing attempts at legislation for sterilization of the mentally deficient.

Urged an intensive study of family education to counteract teaching of birth control and companionate marriage.

Disapproved and discouraged all contests, such as beauty and endurance contests, as injurious to the physique of women and "unworthy of the high dignity and noble functions of womanhood."

Refused to lend sanction to any play or motion picture belittling religion

Favored legislation nullifying the recently enacted deportation act.

MARION MINISTERS AT BAPTIST MEETING

Rev. L. A. Wood and Rev. S. F. Porter on Green Camp Program.

Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church and Rev. S. F. Porter, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, will attend sessions of the Marion Baptist association at Green Camp today and Friday. The meeting marks the nineteenth anniversary of the association and the one hundredth anniversary of the Green Camp Baptist church.

The association meeting opened this morning with a song service led by Rev. Porter. Rev. Wood delivered the annual missionary sermon this afternoon.

Tonight will be given over as a special service for the men of the Baptist association. Rev. William Piefer of Columbus will give the principal address, and the men's chorus from Richwood will sing. Rev. Porter will lead a congregational song service.

Friday morning Rev. O. T. Swigart of near Marion is on a program to lead a devotional service. Mrs. Lawrence A. Wood will preside at a missionary meeting Friday afternoon. Mrs. Mayme Goldberg of the Philippine Islands will speak.

A Young People's session Friday night will bring the two-day meeting to a close. Rev. H. M. Braker of Mansfield will give the principal address.

PROTESTS PLAN TO ABANDON CAR LINE

Bucyrus Man Objects to Pennsy Proposal Before Commission.

A protest against the plan of the Pennsylvania railroad to abandon its gasoline electric car passenger service on the Columbus-Sandusky line was filed today with the state public utilities commission by C. H. Richardson of the Shunk Manufacturing Co. of Bucyrus.

The car goes north from Marion at 4 51 p. m daily, except Sunday, and south at 10:35 a. m. It comprises passenger service offered by the Columbus-Sandusky branch

Local officials of the railroad have not yet been apprised of the company's plan to abandon the passenger service, they said today, although such an intention has been filed with the state public utilities commission

Richardson, in his protest, claims the railroad's passenger service to be the only such service between the two points.

The Bowels Get Real Help from this Doctor's Prescription

TRAIN your bowels to be regular; to move at the same time every day; to be so thorough that they get rid of all the waste. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription—will help you do this. When you take this compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, you are helping the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the sensible thing to take whenever you are headachy, bilious, half-sick from constipation. When you have no appetite, and a bad taste or bad breath shows you're full of poison.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for 47 years. His prescription always works, quickly, thoroughly; can never do you any harm. It just cleans you out and sweetens the whole digestive tract. It gives those over-worked bowels the help they need.

Take some Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today, and see how fine you feel tomorrow—and for days to come. Give it to the kiddies when they're sickly or feverish; they'll like the taste! Your druggist has big bottles of it, all ready for use.

Two Pre-Nuptial Affairs Compliment Miss Bintz

MISS MARIE BINTZ of East Center street, whose marriage to Dr Eugene L. Shanahan of Clyde will take place Monday in St Mary's Catholic church, was complimented with two charming social affairs yesterday when Mrs. Francis J. Hurst entertained with a bridge tea in the afternoon at her home on Vernon Heights boulevard, and Miss Martha Barnhart entertained at a dinner and bridge in the evening.

Mrs. Hurst's guests included 12 of Miss Bintz' close friends Tables for cards were arranged in rooms decorated with fall flowers and autumn colors predominated in the decorations for the tea table Honors at cards were won by Miss Bintz and Mrs Thomas H. Sutherland. Miss Bintz was presented a gift.

Miss Barnhart entertained her guests at dinner at the Country club and later at cards at her home on South State street. Old fashioned flowers were used in decorating the table for the dinner and roses were given as guest favors. Miss Bintz received the honors for high score at bridge and also was presented a gift by the guests.

Miss Bintz, who has been making her home in Fremont was complimented with a number of pre-nuptial social affairs before coming to Marion early this week. A number of parties are planned for her during the remainder of the week.

HOLY Trinity Catholic church in Bucyrus was the scene of a beautiful fall wedding at 9 o'clock this morning when Miss Florence Hoelzel, daughter of Mrs. Clara Hoelzel, was united in marriage to Dr. A. J. Wensinger of Marion, son of Mrs Andrew Wensinger of Fremont.

Rev. Father Leo Reinartz read the single ring service in the presence of 200 friends of the bridal couple

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother Edward Hoelzel wore a lovely princess model of white satin, with deep lace yoke and long tight sleeves. Her veil of a coronet style and trimmed with rose point lace, was fastened to her hair with orange blossoms and fell in a train.

Miss Edith Hoelzel, sister of the bride, the maid of honor wore dotted net over orchid satin, and little Misses Janet Schuler of Bucyrus and Jane Ann Hoelzel of Youngstown flower girls, were dainty in white net. Charles Hoelzel, brother of the bride was Dr. Wensinger's best man and James Hoelzel, of Youngstown and Mart Furlong of Cleveland were ushers.

Joe Gan, organist, presided at the organ playing as the procession Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" Lohengrin's "Wedding March" was played for the recessional. Soloists for the mass were Miss Alice Robey and Mrs. Theresa Kaupp.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to 30 members of the immediate families at the country home of Mrs. Jacob Pfleiderer on Plymouth road.

Dr. and Mrs. Wensinger left on a wedding trip through California and will be at home in Marion after Nov. 1.

"And he gave it to you?"

"No." Her eyes fell and she plucked nervously at her shawl. "Lambert wasn't there when I took the envelope from under his pillow."

"When was that?"

"Just now," she admitted. "I heard Lambert creep out of the room, oh, a long time ago."

"Did you put out the lights in the halls?" swiftly.

"N-no-no," she protested, drawing in her breath with a sucking noise. "If I hadn't promised I never would have moved out of bed tonight."

"Whom did you promise?"

"Her that wanted the note."

"Miss Elsa Chase?" with patient persistence.

"Aint her name on it?" she inquired anxiously. "Didn't I get the right note in the dark?"

"The envelope is addreesd to Miss Chase," he responded. "But why were you carrying it in the opposite direction from the staircase leading to her bedroom?"

The question confused Lucy and for a second she did not reply.

"But I wasn't," she said, tears rolling down her cheeks. "I was taking it to Mrs. Winslow."

"At this hour?" skeptically.

"It's God's truth." She was pleading now, sobs almost choking her voice. "Mrs. Winslow promised a hundred dollars if I found Lambert sneaking about. I saw him drop this letter after dinner, but I dassent try and get it till I was sure he'd gone."

"And you could not wait until morning to give it to Mrs. Winslow?" asked Thorne curiously.

"I was just going to slip it under her door," explained Lucy, gulping back another sob. "She'd a seen it the first thing in the morning."

"Go to your room," Thorne directed. "Say nothing of what has happened. If you do," again he approached her and she shrank away, "I'll turn you over to Inspector Mitchell."

With an articulate sound—relief and promise combined, Lucy fled from the room. Thorne kept behind her making certain that she returned to her own quarters. A moment later he tried Lambert's door. It opened to the touch and, locating a light switch, he pressed the button. Lucy was right, the butler was not there, nor had the bed been slept in. A look in the closet showed his hat and overcoat were missing. Thorne stroked his chin thoughtfully; evidently Lambert had been in such haste that he had overlooked delivering the letter to Elsa. By such narrow margins, justice was served!

Ten minutes later Thorne approached his own room and taking a small awl from his tool belt, he slipped it inside the key hole of his door to poke out the block of wood which had been put there to prevent any one from spying on him. The awl shot through the hole to its full length, meeting no obstacle.

Thorne withdrew the tool and applied his eye to the keyhole—there was no light in his room—and, by the same token, there was no wood in the keyhole. He turned the knob and pushed against the door. It was still locked, apparently, for it would not open. Taking out the key, which he carried in the pocket of his trousers, he inserted it in the lock and opened the door.

It was an instant or so before Thorne entered his bedroom, first taking the precaution to slip his hand around the door jamb and turn on the lights. No one was in sight. Closing and locking the door, he looked down on the floor. Some distance away lay the wooden plug. Its smooth surface bore unmistakable scratches where some sharp instrument had been jammed into it.

With revolver cocked and ready, he went into both closets in the room and then into the bathroom, only to return immediately, convinced that no other human being besides himself was there.

Had the unknown who pushed the wooden peg out of the keyhole done so simply for a look into his bedroom to see if he was there, or had the intruder, provided with a key, come inside and gone out, relocking the door? And was that intruder the remarkable dancer whose shadow he had seen for the second time silhouetted on the drawn curtain of the dormer window of the locked room in the attic?

He frowned in bewilderment as he reached around and pulled the reading lamp by the side of the bed closer to him. Then picking up the envelope he had taken from Lucy, he examined the words: "Miss Elsa Chase" carefully through his magnifying glass. Undoubtedly it was Jack Winslow's writing. So that was how he communicated with Elsa—through Lambert.

For a moment Thorne hesitated, then taking up his penknife he ran one of the blades under the flap of the heavy, linen-lined envelope and looked inside. It was empty.

The next second the room was plunged in darkness and Thorne, resting on his pillows, prepared for a long vigil—one thought uppermost in his mind. Had Lambert, true to his trust, given the contents to Elsa, and intentionally left the sealed envelope as a decoy, or had Lucy removed the note?

Next morning, when Arnold Winslow entered the dining room for breakfast, it was to find his wife prepared to wait on him, instead of the servants. She was in a far from amiable spirit.

"Arnold." Her husband winced at the severe pronouncement of his given name. "The servants are demoralized; Lucy ill in bed, Lambert absent." She put the coffee pot and cream pitcher on the dining table at his elbow. "It is best to discharge Lambert."

Winslow's spoon rattled against the side of his cup as he stirred his coffee. "Discharge Lambert." He repeated the words mechanically. "My dear, after all these years of faithful service! Impossible."

His wife's thin lips closed in their most obstinate lines. "You must let me be the best judge of his worth," she said. "Sometimes a servant can remain too long in one place, and," picking her words with care, "I feel Lambert has outlived his usefulness as a butler."

The steaming coffee cooled with the quantity of cream Winslow poured into it. He emptied his cup before replying, sipping it slowly.

"Do as you think best." He smiled across at his wife. "Your judgment is always sound. Send Lambert to me when he returns." Winslow pushed aside his plate, the bacon and eggs untasted, and rose. "Did you see Thorne before he left?"

"Last night? No."

"I meant this morning; Thorne spent the night here." He looked up and caught his wife's startled expression. "What is the matter? Are you ill?"

For a second she could not get her breath to answer. "I'll be all right in a minute. A glass of sherry, Arnold," and so saying she slipped back in her chair in a dead faint.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

—BY ADELE GARRISON—

Noel's Fear of Losing Mary

EVEN though Dicky's anger was not directed against me but had Philip Veritzen as an object, I felt it the part of discretion to snatch at some other subject of conversation.

"How wonderful of you to cut in, Dicky," I said. "How did you ever manage it? The youngsters have a stag line, but we oldsters haven't. I thought we all would have to stay where we were until the music changed."

"And I'm here to say that would have been a blamed long time for me to see old Phil buzzing you," he retorted. "Besides, I was getting fairly well fed up with Milady Brixton. She's a fine old gal and all that, but there are better dancers and wittier talkers right in this room—I might say in this corner of the room."

"But you haven't told me how you——"

"Got away?" Dicky finished with a grin. "Take a look around you, dearie. Do you see who's dancing with Milady Brixton?"

I looked across the room and saw a pretty sight—Ronald's dark head above his mother's gray one, as he whirled her around in the dance.

"Ronald had lost Marion for the minute," he said, "and I guess he was a bit tired of having to stage a heavyweight bout every time he cut in on her. Besides he's devoted to his mother, and, I fancy, really wanted to dance with her. And, though I protested for courtesy's sake, I didn't kick the lad in the face or bite his ear off when I handed the lady over."

"Dicky, you're awful," I chided banally, but happily.

"Now, you know you don't mean a word of that," he retorted. "You're really tickled to death that I wanted to shelve Helena and grab you away from that old buzzard. Aren't you? Say it!"

His voice was imperative but it held a note which thrilled me, and I said what he wished with emphasis, was rewarded by having him sweep me close to him in a clasp which no chaperone on the floor would have tolerated in one of her charges.

The Dance Beautiful

"Dicky!" I gasped. "You mustn't! Suppose some of these young people should notice. They are dancing so decorously. It would be terrible if they should see you——"

"Hugging my wife to music? Who's to forbid it? he answered rebelliously. But he loosened his clasp nevertheless, and I gave a little cry of dismay as the spray of orchids at my shoulder dropped in pieces. It was an involuntary exclamation, born of surprise and the regret any flower lover feels at seeing a crushed blossom, for I really cared no whit for the flowers. But Dicky's face darkened.

"So they mean something to you after all," he said.

"They do not," I contradicted flatly, "except that I don't like to lose any bouquet so early in the evening. Please do not think of them again, Dicky. Let's [illegible] dances while [illegible] minutes or so gave myself up to the music and the delight of being guided over the floor by the man whose dance steps have always best suited mine. Then Dicky, with a smothered little exclamation, swung me into a corner and took his arm from my wrist.

"Pipe this!" he said.

"This" was the progress of Mary and young Mr. Cameron around the dance floor in a series of intricate dance steps which patently were being evolved from their own ideas. It was so beautiful an exhibition that gradually all the other dancers on the floor stopped where they were, as we had, and watched intently while the tall young talkie star, almost too good-looking, for a man, and Mary, easily the loveliest girl in the room, bowed and postured and swung back and forth in a dance which would have done credit to any professional performance.

I watched them, fascinated for a little while. Then my eyes went in search of two faces—Noel's and his father's—which I knew would be fastened intently upon the dancers.

Both were standing near enough to me so that I could see the expression of their eyes. Noel's held admiration of the wonderful skill his fianacee was exhibiting, but there was also a look of actual fright which tugged at my heart.

But in Philip Veritzen' eyes there was the look which is known as the one belonging to the cat which has eaten the canary, and in its light I began to understand the fear that was in Noel's and his enigmatic injunction to "wait and see." I looked hard at Mary and heard an echo of the fear that had been in Noel's voice, in my own as I spoke to my husband.

"Dicky," I said tremulously, "Mary loves that dancing."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

THURSDAY, and tomorrow will be Friday and then Saturday. I will go fishing with my grandfather if he wunts me to. I hope he won't. But someone with enough sense to take care of the rowers ought to go along with him. I would hate to lose him just because I didn't want to go fishing with him.

I got up and let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and told him it was Thursday but he didn't pay me much mind, and even if he was thinking about it he forgot it as soon as he landed, for he landed on the cat. I would think the cat would have enough sense to keep away from under that window in the morning, because he has landed on her a couple of times. I bet she goes around there and makes out like she's asleep just so as to surprise him. He certainly burns a gangway under the house when she spits and reaches for him.

Goop's big brother got into some more trouble this morning. I had fed my face and we were all going out to the pasture and were passing the new house before the builders got there and the watchman was setting on a keg in the door asleep when there began a lot of hammering and he jumped up and listened, then he ran around to the back, and it was in the new garage. Someone had slid the doors shut and they had locked. The watchman opened one a little ways, and Goop's brother poked his face out, and he was looking scairt, and the watchman asked him what he was doing there and he said he had been there all night. The watchman took him by the collar and opened up the door and went in and there was a bag with a lot of brass faucets and things in it, and the watchman shut the door on him and said he would keep him there till the boss came.

Goop lit out for home to tell his mother, and the watchman said he was going around to the front of the house and for us to not touch the door, and he wunk at Younise, and when he was around the corner Younise said he meant for us to open the door when he wasn't looking. She undone the hook and we all pushed it back, and Goop's brother come out and skun out like a scairt rabbit, and just then the watchman holleted, and we skun out so fast we pnased Goop's brother.

When Younise and Feeble and Maggie caught up, they said the watchman laughed at us the way we skun out, and he said that would be a lesson to Goop's brother. I bet it will too. It will be to me. I am going to learn to run faster. I wasn't late today. But I got so many lessons yesterday that I could have been.

WANT ROAD PLACED ON STATE PROGRAM

Property Owners To Meet at Blooming Grove Friday Night.

Improvement by the state highway department of the old Marion-Mansfield road from the intersection of the Harding Highway and route 61 in Morrow county east of Iberia northeast to Mansfield will be sought by residents of that district at a meeting to be held in the Blooming Grove school in Morrow county Friday night.

The present road is unimproved and is almost a direct line from the intersection of the Harding Highway and route 61 through Blooming Grove to Mansfield. It lies southeast of Galion, through which the Harding Highway runs, and is shorter by three miles than the Galion route.

Glenn H. Braden of Blooming Grove, a township clerk, has called the meeting at which plans will be made to have the road placed on the state highway improvement program. All persons interested in the project have been invited to attend.

LIKE MAGIC PIMPLES DISAPPEAR

Pittsburgh Man Grateful

One of the many wonderful things about Peterson's Ointment—you don't have to wait long before it accomplishes results.

If you are troubled with pimples on your face and back—just rub on Peterson's Ointment before going to bed—rub it in good—wake up in the morning with your skin already starting to clear.

The mighty healing power of Peterson's rapidly banishes those ugly blemishes and makes you the proud possessor of charming skin beauty.

Mr. Ed. W. King of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "I had pimples all over my face for over a year. I had used other Ointments but they did no good. It was not until I tried Peterson's that I found the way to end pimples."

Pimples have disappeared in 24 hours, when Peterson's Ointment was rubbed well into the skin—one 35 cent box will prove it—all druggists.—Adv.

TAX LEAGUE PLANS MEETING FRIDAY

Organization Sponsored by Dr. F. C. Smith To Organize.

The proposal of an Ohio Tax Reduction League, of which Dr. Frederick C. Smith of Marion is sponsor, is meeting hearty approval in Marion county as well as in other parts of the state, Dr. Smith said today.

Initial meeting of the league will be held in the common pleas courtroom in the courthouse here on next Friday, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p. m. Plans for the first meeting are to be outlined at a meeting early in the week of a committee to be selected by Dr. Smith.

Object of the league will be to reduce taxes throughout the state by the abolition of offices which the organiaztion feels are unnecessary and a burden to taxpayers. The league is not interested in shifting of taxes from one source to another but is interested only in reduction of taxes, Dr. Smith said.

The league would operate through the use of the initiative and referendum, according to present plans.

Charged with Laziness

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

That persistent feeling of tiredness—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system. Excess acid, formed in the stomach as a result of our unnatural eating habits, causes acid-indigestion, with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal that saps our strength and vitality, taxes our nerves and pulls us down physically and mentally.

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by a famous, 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxoids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

Make this Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Bradley's Drug Store or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If, after taking the contents of one bottle, you don't get more than amazing results return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund the purchase price promptly and in full.—Adv.

MASSA STARTS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Appeal Filed in Court by Man Facing Death in Galion Slaying.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, O., Oct. 2—The fight to save Fred Massa from death in the electric chair for his part in the murder of Ralph Wilcox at Galion was started today when a petition charging error was filed with the court of appeals at Lima.

Previously Attorney E. J. Myers had filed a bill of exceptions with the coutr. It contained 182 pages.

In the seven instances of error filed were charges that the indictment was faulty, that the age of Massa was not shown in the evidence and that the court erred in not withdrawing testimony that Wilcox fired one shot during the attempted robbery.

CEREMONY UNITES COUPLE AT GALION

Miss Dorothea Neal Becomes Bride of Dale Jeter; Wedding Breakfast Served.

Special To The Star

GALION, Oct. 2—At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning Miss Dorothea Neal was united in marriage to Dale Jeter. The ceremony was read by Rev. W. N. Robertson at the First M. E. parsonage. The couple was attended by Miss Mary Jeanette Conaway and Harold Muth.

The bride wore a turquois blue taffeta dress and wore a shawl of lace. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby breath.

Mrs. Jeter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Neal of 528 East Walnut street, and Mr. Jeter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jeter of 406 Fairview avenue.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. A large wedding cake with miniature bride and groom centered the table where places were laid for 15.

After a wedding trip through Indiana the couple will reside in their newly furnished home at 203 South Pierce street, this city. Mr. Jeter is a printer at the Wilson Printing Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zeller of Mt. Gilead, grandparents of the bride, were the only out-of-town guests present.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN LYON SR.

CALEDONIA, Oct. 2—Mr. and Mrs. John Lyon Sr. will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary Oct. 7 at their home two miles north of Caledonia with a family dinner and reception.

Mrs. Lyon is a lifelong resident of Marion county. She was born on the farm where she now lives Aug. 20, 1862, and was the daughter of William and Catherine Crissinger. Her father died while serving as a cavalryman in the Civil war when she was eight months old.

Mr. Lyon was the son of Jonathan and Myra Lyon and was born March 10, 1862, in Canaan township in Morrow county. He came to Marion county when six years of age. He was united in marriage to Isadora Crissinger Oct. 7, 1880, by Rev. Samuel Wertz.

They are the parents of nine children. A daughter, four sons, 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren are living.

At noon a buffet dinner will be served to the following who have been sent invitations: A daughter, Mrs. Frank Hines of Marion, the four sons, Mr. and Mrs. John Lyon Jr. of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lyon of Galion, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyon; the grandchildren and great-grandchildren; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lyon and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyon, brothers of the host; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Alexander of Nevada, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Stiger of Bucyrus, sisters of the hostess; Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Barnes of Ashtabula; Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Haas of Cardington; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker of Marion; Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Michel, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Miller and members of the class of Memorial M. E. Sunday school of which Mrs. Lyon has been teacher for 14 years. An invitation has been extended to all friends and relatives to attend the reception from 2 to 5 p. m. and 7 to 10 p. m.

POLICE APPREHEND MURDERER OF THREE

Alleged Killer Looking for Two Men as State Officers Capture Him.

By The Associated Press

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Oct. 2—Three women lay dead today, while state police piecing together the story of a triple tragedy, said William C. Adams, captured in the mountains two miles from here, had confessed that he slew them and that he was "looking for two men" when he was apprehended.

Adams saw his estranged wife, Mrs. Flossie Adams, 29, and her aunt, Mrs. Cynthia McGuire, walking on the street here yesterday. He left his automobile and attempted to talk to his wife. A quarrel ensued and, police said, Adams shot both women. After the shooting, Adams went to the home of Mrs. John Campbell, his wife's mother, and killed her, police said. Then Adams fled to the hills.

Mrs. McGuire, a resident of Johnson City, Tenn., was visiting here.

LOWER RATE TO BE OFFERED

Gas Company Expected To Submit New Proposal to Kenton Council.

Special To The Star

KENTON, Oct. 2—That the West Ohio Gas Co. of Lima may offer a reduced rate schedule for Kenton consumers at the next meeting of city council on Oct. 7, was the information given the council gas committee during a conference here with West Ohio officials.

Council now is considering a request from Akron interests for a 10-year franchise to supply local consumers with gas from the western Hardin county oil and gas fields, at a rate estimated to be 30 per cent lower than the present rate of the West Ohio people.

The gas committee has decided to recommend to council that if act favorably on the Akron franchise request provided satisfactory franchise ordinance is drawn up.

The West Ohio's action in the matter was prompted by the Akron interests seeking a franchise. At the present time the West Ohio has litigation before the state utilities commission involving an appeal from a lower rate ordinance effected by city council more than a year ago. The Lima concern holds that the new rate passed by the city is confiscatory.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

OLD time baseball players and followers of the older style of play in baseball will no doubt be elated over the perfect execution yesterday of the once famous squeeze play by Haas and Boley of the Athletics. Once a chief part of the national pastime the play has been more or less discarded along with various other scoring tricks with the advent of the lively ball and the slugging tactics of major league teams. The play yesterday will revive a lot of old stories today among the old timers who used to work the play whenever the score was close and the opportunity presented itself.

The use of it yesterday demonstrated another reason why the Athletics are apt to go through and win another worlds championship. When it comes to brains in baseball, Cornelius McGillicudy, otherwise known as Connie Mack, is just about two jumps ahead of any one in the game today. And that includes "Master Mind" John McGraw.

With Mansfield and Bucyrus the only teams meeting N. C. O. opposition this week-end activity in the North Central circuit is at a low ebb for the second consecutive week. The above named teams will clash on the Bucyrus gridiron Saturday in the only N. C. O. game. Whoever wins will be accorded the privilege of occupying the top rung of the league in company with Galion for at least one week. Galion now holds undisputed first place by virtue of its 7-0 win over Harding last Saturday. It is quite probable that Mansfield will be the victor in the Saturday league game.

It seems to us that if two more teams could be added to the roster of the N. C. O. circuit the loop would take on added prestige. Six teams are not enough for the circuit. What schools might like to enter the circuit are not known. Perhaps there are none willing to join with the present circuit. Marion and several other N. C. O. teams annually play Findlay so why not make an effort to include the school in the circuit. It might be rather distant for some of the league schools but probably no more so than some of the schools which each year are scheduled. It should not be so difficult to find another school which would be willing to compete for the N. C. O. championship. There are too few N. C. O. games being played for the best interest of the league.

Grand Rapids, Mich., will keep daylight saving time until November 29, after the football season ends.

STRATEGY WINS OPENER FOR A'S

CONNIE OUTSMARTS NATIONAL OPPONENTS

Haas, Boley Execute Squeeze Play First Time in 17 Years.

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2—Following an old American league custom, the Philadelphia Athletics today were a game up on their National league rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals.

The men of Mack jumped out in front by capturing the opening contest for world baseball supremacy, 5 to 2, in a game in which the winners did not waste a hit. It marked the sixth consecutive year in which the American leaguers won the first game and was their thirteenth victory in the last 14 games.

The St. Louis safeties were more numerous than those of the Philadelphia batsmen, but the Athletics' hits went farther. The A's were content with five, two home runs, two triples and a double. The Cardinals scored nine, seven singles and two doubles.

No game just like the opener has been run off in the 25 years of play for the world's title. Five hits for five runs and not a single among them is a record.

Manager Mack, whose pitching selection caused much mental anguish among the dopesters, again confused the experts by doing the obvious and sending his ace, Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove to the mound. Grove was not as good as he has been in American league games this season, but he had enough to turn the invaders back every inning but one—the third—when the two St. Louis runs were counted.

Champs Back Grove

Behind Grove, the champions played as a team inspired. His support rallied to his aid when danger threatened in two innings, the seventh and eighth.

Burleigh Grimes, pugnacious, lion-hearted pitcher of the Cardinals, who pitched a world's series shutout for Brooklyn 10 years ago, called on all the cunning, acquired through nearly 20 years of baseball, but it was not enough. The biting, scratching, snarling Grimes was defeated but he went down yelling defiance at his conquerors. Burleigh said he was ready to pitch again today.

Manager Street, however, was not inclined to accept, announcing a determination to adhere to his original plan of calling in Flint Rhem, to display his pitching wares in the second game, with Sylvester Johnson, Jess Haines and others in reserve. Grimes probably will be called on Sunday after "Wild Bill" Hallahan has had his fling at St. Louis Saturday.

Unless Manager Mack has some deep, dark strategy cooking, the Athletics' pitching mantle for the second game seemed to be ready to fall on the giant George Earnshaw, who started in two successive games of the 1929 series.

Hoover at Game

President Hoover saw his second world's series game in succession as the battle for the all inclusive baseball title moved off.

Connie Mack was so appreciative of the services of the chief magistrate as a bringer of good luck to the Athletics, he urged him to remain throughout the series, but Mr. Hoover had to move on to Cleveland to fill a speaking engagement.

In the opening game Foxx scored the first run in the second inning when, with one out, he smashed a hard hit against right field wall and ran to third when Ray Blades had some difficulty in getting the ball back. Foxx hit one on Grimes' famous "spitters" which did not make Blades' task easier. When Miller filed to Blades, Foxx galloped home.

The cheers of the Philadelphia fans over taking the lead was still echoing about the park when the Cardinals got the run back and another. Gus Mancuso, making his first world's series appearance at bat, smashed a hit to right. Charley Gelbert also making his debut, hit one almost in the same spot. Grimes bunted, Groves in his eagerness to snare the dribbling ball, got his feet tangled and sprawled on the grass. Foxx dashed in and grabbed the ball but when he pegged to first, Bishop could not get his hands up and it went for a hit, filling the bases. Sacrifice flies from the bats of Douthit and Adams scored Mancuso and Gelbert.

Al Simmons tied the score in the fourth with a home run, and when Bishop walked and Jimmy Dykes doubled in the sixth the A's were ahead. A triple by Mule Haas and a perfect bunt by Joe Boley scored a run in the seventh in the first "squeeze play" in world's series contests in nearly 20 years. Another home run, also over the right field barrier, this time by Gordon Cochrane, accounted for the last run in the eighth.

SHOULD HAVE WON

Confidence of Red Wings Better Than Ability To Back It Up.

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2—A certain Louisville hotel today is enjoying a laugh at the expense of the Rochester Redwings. Yesterday morning the Redwings who are here playing the Louisville Colonels of the American association in the "little world series," checked out of the hotel before they went to the ball park. Last night they filed back into the hotel and again signed for rooms, after the Colonels had won the seventh game of the series, 6 to 5. Rochester is leading by four games to three, and needs only one more victory to walk off with the series.

Sidelights on World's Series

BY BILL CORUM
By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2—I'm writing with tears in my eyes. And pawn tickets in my pocketbook.

The Athletics beat the Cardinals yesterday—as you may have heard if you live near the post office. That makes 13 out of 14 games the American league has won from the National in the last three world's series. You know, I'm beginning the subject that the boys are in earnest. A joke's a joke and that's all right. But 13 out of 14 is no joke. Ask John Heydler. Ask him, that is, if you can find him. I hear he is away on a fishing trip with Judge Crater.

John Heydler, as you no doubt know is president of the National league. Ernest Barnard is president of the American league. And Herbert Hoover is president of the United States. This reads like things Winchell never knew before.

But what I was getting at was Mr. Hoover saw the A's score five runs on five hits to beat the Cardinals, 5 to 2. Coolidge economy.

Well, we need Coolidge economy. But nobody needed Cal to keep cool with at yesterday's game. Shibe park was like sitting in the frigidaire waiting for company. And President Hoover didn't have an overcoat, causing one of the inmates of the press to remark that he knew times were hard, but he didn't know they were that hard.

What Mr. Hoover did have in his party was several secret service men. But he didn't need them half so badly as Burleigh Grimes, the old spitball artist who served them up for the Cardinals. Grimes let "Mule" Haas practically steal home on him in the first squeeze play seen in a world's series in 17 years. Fred Snodgrass, of the Giants, put on a squeeze play in 1913 and John McGraw benched him for it.

But Connie Mack won't bench Haas and Boley, the lad who did the bunting. Connie ordered it. It just goes to show that an old dog can teach 'em new tricks. It also goes to show them that Haas hits, as I am so fond of remarking.

Not so Bad, Mack

This squeeze was, by all odds, the smartest play of a smart ball game, and the crowd rose almost to the man to cheer it. Which proves that you do not have to knock the ball over the fence to give 'em a thrill. There was far more bang in this perfectly executed squeezer than in Simmons' and Cochrane's slashing home run drives.

It looked like old times to see the play worked, but it might not have come off if Grimes had been awake. The pitcher's office, in case you have forgotten about squeeze plays yourself, is to throw the ball straight at the batsman.

This makes him choose between getting out of the way and getting hit. If he gets out of the way the runner is caught at the plate. If he elects to take it in the ribs the runner must go back to third.

Grimes, an old stager, knows this, and if he had been on the lookout and seen Haas racing up that line would have pulled it. Still, it is hard to condemn a fellow for not watching a play that has lain idle in world's series competition for 17 years. Why, 17 years ago you could still get a beer for a nickel, not to mention taking your sweetie out for a large evening on 50 cents.

SOX WHIP CUBS IN CITY SERIES OPENER

Lyons Tames Bruin Sluggers To Win First Game 5-1.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—The seventh-place White Sox of the American league today were one up on the National League Cubs in the Chicago city championship series.

The big reason why the south-side club were one up following a 5 to 1 victory yesterday in the series opener, was Ted Lyons.

The Cub sluggers, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler and Riggs Stephenson, failed to make any sort of impression on the Sox right-hander.

Comiskey park was visited by 30,204 paying customers, and with a White Sox victory yesterday, a crowd of around 40,000 was anticipated today. Pat Caraway, White Sox southpaw, was Manager Donie Bush's choice, while Rogers Hornsby was expected to send Sheriff Fred Blake out to try to bring the Cubs up even.

As Simmons Completes Circuit

Rebuild Hoosier Team for Ohio State Battle

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—Coach Pat Page of Indiana, today was at work on a last minute rebuilding job, with the Hoosiers opening Big Ten game with Ohio State set for Saturday.

Roundly displeased with the work of his varsity on the defense against the freshmen yesterday, Page tore the team to pieces, demoting regulars to the second and third teams, and moving sophomores and reserves into the varsity lineup. It is not likely that George Ross, Ashby and Dauer will be missing from the Hoosier backfield when game time arrives Saturday, but the reserves will be kept warming up against the first signs of defensive weakness.

Notre Dame, Northwestern and Minnesota yesterday had their last hard drills in preparation for the southern and southwestern raids Saturday. Coach Rockne scrimmaged the ramblers against Southern Methodist forward passes yesterday, while Coach Hanley of Northwestern shifted his backfield about in an effort to add punch to his offensive when Tulane's vaunted green wave invades Dyche stadium.

Gopher Line Weak

Minnesota's problem continues to be over the line and Coach Crisler yesterday was still undecided upon the makeup of the forward wall which will start against Vanderbilt.

Wisconsin and Chicago already have started to make ready for their meeting a week from Saturday. Each has a doubleheader Saturday against minor opposition and Coaches Stagg and Thistlethwaite have decided to let those affairs take care of themselves. The Badgers worked yesterday against Chicago formations, while Chicago's line material was given another combing by Coach Stagg to locate the best combination for use against Wisconsin.

From Michigan and Illinois come more doleful reports. The Wolverine offense has failed to function properly while the Illinois varsity has been able to do little against the freshmen either on offense or defense. Illinois will meet Iowa State Saturday, while Michigan will have a sturdy adversary in Michigan State.

Purdue's defense has developed well this week and the defending Big Ten champions appear ready for anything Baylor can produce in the opening game at Lafayette Saturday. Ohio State has specialized on forward passes this week and Coach Willaman has indicated that Indiana will see the football in the air often.

Drake and Oregon, which will tangle on Soldier field tomorrow night, were due in Chicago today.

Three Pittsburgh university stars of last year are coaching. Joe Donchess and Ray Montgomery are at Pitt, and Luby DiMelolo is with New York university.

MOORE'S WARM AIR CIRCULATING HEATERS

NEW HEATING PRINCIPLES! MOST ECONOMICAL OPERATION!

Seventeen Reasons Why YOU Should Get a Genuine

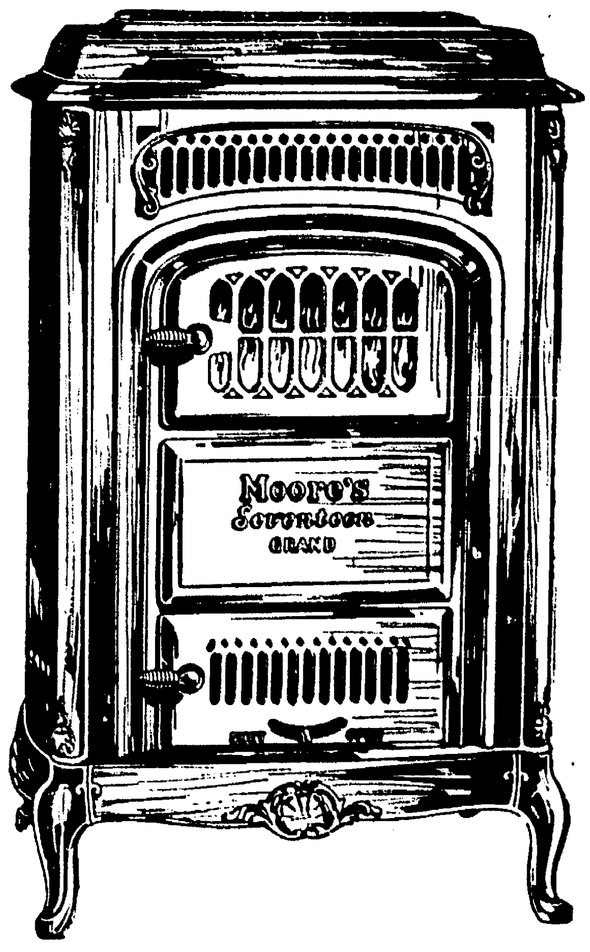
MOORE'S Seventeen

If a warm air circulating heater is to do what is expected of it, the following things must be embodied, as in Moore's Seventeen:

1. Engineered for air handling so that rooms are evenly heated throughout.
2. All cast-iron inner construction.
3. Joints packed permanently air tight with asbestos wicking.
4. Air tight ash-pit, door and slide.
5. No bolts in contact with fire.
6. Cast-iron egg-shaped combustion dome.
7. Heat spreads fanwise from the top.
8. Air passages exactly balanced with heat generating capacity of heating unit.
9. Slotted Anti-Carbon Firepot burns soot and gas and makes two hods of coal do the work of three in an ordinary heater.
10. Duplex grates burn any fuel.
11. Roomy ash-pit and big ash pan.
12. Rigid Cast-iron legs and base.
13. Humidifier provides moist air.
14. All bolts concealed.
15. Large cheerful fuel door.
16. Easily attached to fireplace or chimney.
17. Finish is permanently beautiful and as easy to clean as a china dish.

We can give you the names and addresses of nearly 400 users of Moores Circulating Heaters in this vicinity—

"They Must Be Good"



Let Us Help You Select the Heater Best Suited for Your Type of Home

—Burns Coal, Coke, Wood or Lignite
—Grain Enameled Metal Casing on All Four Sides—Smooth as Glass
—Permanent Enameled Finish
—Solid Cast Iron Inner Heating Unit.

The Moore's Seventeen Warm Air Circulator has the appearance of a fine piece of furniture—it employs the circulating principle of heating and correct humidifying the air—it's always in perfect control.

Moore's Seventeen Warm Air Circulator

is not an ordinary heater enclosed in a cabinet—it's scientifcially designed—very handsome in design and lasts a life time. Note—A very limited number of used heating stoves on hand taken in trade on Moore's circulators—priced to sell quickly—Also a Moore Circulator demonstrator warm air circulator.

Hemorrhoid Sufferers

Stop Pile Misery Without Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that Henney & Cooper always sell them with guarantee of money back if they do not end all Pile suffering.—Adv.

SALOON NOT TO COME BACK, BULKLEY SAYS

Senate Candidate Declares He Will Oppose Return of "Undesirable."

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 2 — Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, Democratic senatorial candidate, declared that repeal of the eighteenth amendment would not mean the return of the old open saloon in an address here last night.

Bulkley, who is campaigning on a stand for repeal, said he would oppose "any change in our state constitution or laws that would permit the undesirable features of the old order." He denied repeal would be a backward step.

George White of Marietta, the gubernatorial candidate of the party, charged the Republican administration with bungling operation of the workmen's compensation law.

Bulkley, White and other candidates resumed their speaking tour of the state from here today.

McCULLOCH MEETS HOOVER

Senator Ends Three Days of Campaigning in Cleveland.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2 — United States Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, with three days of campaigning in Cleveland behind him, today planned to go to Alliance to board the special train bringing President Hoover to Cleveland.

McCulloch ended a series of addresses here last night by again declaring the tariff is the principal issue of the campaign.

Students from Near Here in Ohio State Band

Roland Snow of East Church street is one of five students from Marion and vicinity who are among the 120 students chosen members of the Ohio State university band this year. Snow will play the piccolo. Men from the vicinity are James Wise and Clarence Assenheimer of Bucyrus, who will play the clarinet and bass horn, respectively, Herbert Mathew of Mt. Gilead, the cornet and Francis Lyon of Caledonia, the trombone.

Last year there were only 100 members in the band. Its first appearance will be Saturday when it enters the stadium in full regalia to play at the Indiana-Ohio State football game.

OKLA. FARMER KILLS 172 RATS IN ONE NIGHT

K-R-O (Kills Rats Only), writes Mr. ——, Hulbert, Okla., brought this remarkable result. K-R-O is the original product made from squill, an ingredient recommended by U. S. Government as sure death to rats and mice but harmless to dogs, cats, poultry or even baby chicks. You can depend on K-R-O (Kills Rats Only), which has become America's leading rat exterminator in just a few years. Sold by all druggists on a money back guarantee.—Adv.

OLD TIMERS WONDER AT MODERN TACTICS

Baseball Notables Gather at Series To See New Style Baseball.

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2—The Athletics' victory in the first game of the world's series was like a page torn from the records of baseball classics of nearly two decades ago to grizzled old veterans of the house of Mack, back to view the battle from the sidelines like so many old grads at a college homecoming football game.

These old timers, such as Harry Davis, "Home Run" Baker, Chief Bender, even a "youngster" among veterans like Joe Bush, came back prepared to look somewhat askance at these boys of the modern era just a lot of young fellows "swinging from their toes," tossing all scientific baseball to the winds for the sake of slugging.

They saw some high, wide and fancy slugging but they also saw smart fielding, heady pitching and their eyes opened in amazement when they saw the almost-forgotten "squeeze" play executed by Joe Boley, shortstop of the A's for the first time in a world's series game in at least 17 years.

Harry Davis, captain of the old A's of 1910, rubbed his eyes in amazement as he contemplated a duplicate of the play that Jack Barry, of the famous $100,000 infield of 1910-14 made famous.

"It looked like old times," mused Harry. "I never thought I would see that again. That [illegible] like the old A's [illegible]

WHEAT VALUES SCORE GAINS

Liverpool Quotations React Favorably on Chicago Market Prices.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 2—With Liverpool wheat quotations today much higher than expected and drouth damage to wheat in Australia reported serious, wheat values here scored fresh early upturns. Word of heavy selling of wheat abroad by Russia today failed to act as a counterbalance. Opening ½@1¾c higher, Chicago wheat future deliveries afterward held near to the initial range. Influenced largely by wheat strength, corn started 1¾ @2¼c up, but subsequently underwent some reaction.

Friends of higher prices for wheat put special stress today on assertions that 1930 U. S. crops of the five principal grains plus carryovers were just about equal to last year's disappearance, and that the immense reduction of other cereal and feed crops emphasized with decided force a general shortage. It was also pointed out that prospects indicated a reduced domestic winter wheat acreage. There were official reports at hand, too, that the 1930 wheat crop of the northern hemisphere outside of Russia was likely to prove little if any larger than last year, and that in number of European countries the out-turn was smaller, with the quality far below that of a year ago.

Talk was likewise current that 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been bought overnight for export. Meanwhile, in addition to the stimulating effect of wheat market advances, a particular incentive for buyers of corn came from reports today that husking returns were turning out to be a big disappointment. Iowa dispatches especially were to the effect that fields which had been expected to produce

Provisions rose with grain and hogs, and as a result of active purchasing of lard for houses with connections east

SHIFTED FOR ELYRIA BATTLE ON FRIDAY

Clay Moved to Fullback Post; Upstate Team Looms Pretty Tough.

will remain at quarter. Who will take the place of Clay at left tackle is not certain. Sloan and Newby will probably start the Elyria game at the flanks with Smith at the tackle post. Houseworth may be moved from guard to tackle leaving Jevas and Skinner or Eckenbarger for the guard positions. Eric Williams will be at the snapperback post again.

Elyria will present a tough team to the Harding boys and it is quite possible that the local outfit will find them entirely too big an assignment. The Elyria team is heavy and has a reputation for playing hard hitting aggressive football.

Bohyer will take a squad of about 25 players to Elyria for the Friday night game. The game is booked to start at 8.00 p. m. on the new electrically equipped Ely field of Elyria High school.

The remaining members of the N. C. O. grid league will not swing into action in the week-end games until Saturday afternoon. None of the others face as tough opposition as does Harding. Mansfield plays at Bucyrus and figures to hand the home team the first defeat of the N. C. O. year. Mt. Gilead plays at Galion and the latter should win in a walk. Orrville plays at Ashland and the latter should turn in another victory. The Bucyrus-Mansfield clash is the only league game of the week. Crestline plays at Shelby and will probably be badly beaten.

Adam did pretty well, considering that he had no early training.

Permits Issued—Building permit for a $3,000 filling station at 251 Silver street, at the intersection with Mary street, has been issued to Mrs. Catherine English by City Clerk Sylvester Larkin. Permit to erect a shed at 616 East Center street was granted to the Mathews-Talmadge Oil Co.

LADIES' AID ELECTS

Mrs. P. B. Carrier Named President of U. B. Church Group.

The Ladies' Aid society of the United Brethren church met for its annual election last night and installed Mrs. P. B. Carrier as president for the year. The meeting was at the community house.

Officers elected with Mrs. Carrier were: Mrs. Harry Fowler, vice president; Mrs. W. D. Scranton, secretary; Mrs. B. K. Hill, treasurer; Mrs. William Curren, pianist; Mrs. A. B. Shupp, chorister, and Mrs. C. A. Jones, reporter.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Carrier, with prayers by Rev. and Mrs. Carl V. Roop. The society was divided into three groups each of which will raise $500 during the year, to complete the $1,500 pledge made this year by the society. Mrs. Scranton is leader of the first group, Mrs. J. M. Huffman is leader of the second group and Mrs. J. C. Holthouse is leader of group No. 3, known as the Dollar group.

The society laid plans for a father and son bonquet Oct. 23, and also to serve cafeteria suppers at the community house each Saturday night, beginning Oct. 11. The next meeting will be Nov. 5.

OHIO THEATER OPENS WITH NEW MANAGER

J. J. Huebner Heads Corporation Formed To Operate House.

The Ohio theater on South State street, formerly known as the Grand, will be reopened this afternoon by Manager J. J. Huebner, president of Huebner Theaters, Inc.

Incorporation papers for the new theater company were filed with the secretary of state this week. The papers call for 250 shares of no par value stock.

Ann Harding in "Girl of the Golden West" was be the opening presentation.

Although extensive improvements will not be made immediately, several changes will be made in the near future, Huebner said.

TENT AIDS NEEDY

Daughters of Veterans' Charity Work Discussed at Meeting.

In two weeks $50 was expended by Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48 Daughters of Veterans for charity, a report given at a meeting last night at the Legion dugout showed. The money was expended for food and clothing for the worthy needy of Marion.

Mrs. Alma Kinney, chairman of the calling committee and several of the committee members, reported that 25 visits have been made to sick members in the two weeks period and that flowers were sent to each.

The district convention here Oct. 16 was discussed and drill practice held for the degree work to be exemplified by the Marion tent. The tent made plans to cooperate with the district officers in enabling the convention to place flowers on the Harding tomb.

A special meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon in the I. O. O. F. hall for a final practice of the floor work for the degrees to be given here at the convention.

CIRCLE ELECTS

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church Group Holds Meeting.

Mrs. John Quigley was elected president of Friendship circle of St. Paul's English Lutheran church at a meeting last night with Mrs. H. G. Edsall of 593 Olney avenue. Mrs. Walter Miller was elected vice president, Miss Marian Wheeler was elected secretary and Miss Marian Dale Greenland was elected treasurer. Mrs. Edsall was elected reporter.

Miss Alice Grabill and Mrs. John Monk were guests of the club. In a business session Miss Grabill was enrolled as a member. Plans were made for a Hallowe'en party Thursday night, Oct. 23, in the chruch basement.

Contests were enjoyed in a social hour, honors going to Mrs. Miller and Miss Grabill. The circle will meet Nov. 5 with Miss Wheeler at her home on West Church street.

Landowners Petition for Road Improvement

Petition of nearby landowners for the paving of Campbell road, west of the city, now an earth road, was heard this afternoon by county commissioners.

The road, if paved, will be of waterbound macadam whose estimated cost is $2,516.16.

Commissioners this morning viewed the proposed vacation of the Howard road in Big Island township, which petitioners claim is not in use.
